Charges Davey Forces Threaten School Bonds

SAWYER HEAD SAYS TEACHER FORCED TO QUIT

Correll Announces Resignation From Campaign Rather Than 'Jeopardize Issue.'

BLAMES KALLMERTEN

Asserts He Was Told to Drop Sawyer Fight or 'Machine' Will Oppose Bonds.

Governor Martin L. Davey's campaign leaders in Richland county have forced the resignation of a member of the Sawyer-for-governor committee, under threat of open opposition by Davey supporters to the Mansfield school bond issue, G. A. Baer, chairman of the Sawyer committee, charged today.

Target of the attack of the Davey machine was John F. Correll, assistant chairman of the Sawyer campaign committee, and a teacher at Hedges high school.

Announces Own Resignation.

Correll announced his resignation today, asserting that he had been told by E. B. Kallmerten, chairman of the Richland county Democratic executive committee and leader of the county's Davey forces, that unless he withdrew from the Sawyer committee, Davey supporters would oppose the $550,000 bond issue.

He said he preferred to withdraw rather than jeopardize the chances of the school bonds at the polls Aug. 9.

Issues Denial.

Kallmerten today issued a vehement denial that he had made any such demand on Correll. He said he was in favor of the school bond issue, and that he "wasn't interested in whether Correll resigned."

"Where did you get such information?" Kallmerten asked newspaper representatives.

Informed that the report had been confirmed by a member of his own organization, he replied:

"I have no control over what

SEC Charges Associated Gas Violated Holding Act.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The securities and exchange commission, in a bill of complaint filed in the U. S. district court here today, charge the Associated Gas & Electric system with violation of the Public Utility Holding company act of 1935 and the Securities act of 1933.

Th SEC action arose as a result of the system's efforts to extend the Associated Gas & Electric corporation 5½ per cent convertible investment certificates which mature Nov. 15.

This is the first action of its kind since the 1935 holding company legislation was held constitutional by the supreme court in the Electric Bond & Share case.

ROSENDAHL TO REPLY TO ICKES

Says Secretary Also Once Favored Giving Helium to Nazis.

LAKEHURST, N. J.—(U.P.)—Commander Charles E. Rosendahl, the navy's dirigible expert, replying to the criticism of Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, said today that Ickes too, had changed his mind about selling helium to Germany. He said Ickes had favored the idea a year ago.

Ickes issued a 22-page statement yesterday charging that Rosendahl formerly opposed the sale of helium to Germany but that after returning this week from a visit abroad, where he was "wined and dined" by Nazi officials, had changed his mind.

In his reply, Rosendahl said that the big airship today does not fit into the military picture.

CAMPAIGN CHEAP

Gubernatorial Candidate Lists 3 Cents Under Protest.

OKLAHOMA CITY—(AP)—J. O. Ferguson, Republican nominee for governor, filed his report of campaign expenditures—three cents—under protest.

He protested because the expense was not incurred until after the primary. The three cents was for a stamp to mail his affidavit of expenditures.

Atlantic airplane crossings assumed near-epidemic proportions today, with the arrival in Port Washington, N. Y., of the 19-ton German flying boat, Nordmeer, which flew non-stop from the Azores. The Nordmeer is shown at lower right. Upper left shows the British "pick-a-back" plane, the Mercury, as it landed in Montreal yesterday, after a non-stop flight from Foynes, Ireland. It then flew to New York Both planes were launched from the backs of mother ships. The British ship made the entire flight of 3,042 miles in 25 hours and eight minutes. The Nordmeer flew 2,397 miles in 17 hours and 42 minutes. Shown at top right is Capt. C. T. Bennett, pilot of the Mercury.

HART CONVICTED, GETS LIFE TERM

Cleveland Racketeer Found Guilty in Gang Slaying of 'Happy' Marino.

(By Associated Press)

YOUNGSTOWN—Solly Hart of Cleveland was found guilty of first degree murder in the slaying of Roy "Happy" Marino of Youngstown in a verdict by a three-judge court this morning. Hart was immediately sentenced to life imprisonment.

Upon being called to receive sentence, Hart, in a barely audible voice, said he had "nothing to say."

Herb Ross, petty Cleveland racketeer, and John Anthoulis, Steubenville slot machine czar, both had been found guilty by juries. Two others indicted, John O'Boyle and Thomas Galati of Cleveland, have not been captured. Galati, the state contends, owned the car in which Marino was taken for a "one-way ride."

Hart waived trial by a jury, and asked for trial by a three-judge court. Judges George H. Gessner and J. H. C. Lyon of Mahoning county and Fred H. Wolf of Wauseon composed the court.

Much of the testimony of state and defense witnesses was read into the record from the two previous trials.

Decisions on two motions for new trials for Ross and Anthoulis are pending before Judge Erskine Maiden, jr. He is expected to hand down a decision on the motions soon.

PLOTTER SENT TO PRISON

BIRMINGHAM, Eng.—(AP)—John Bruce Thornton was sentenced today to seven years of penal servitude for a fantastic plot to kidnap Viscount Nufflied, Britain's "Henry Ford", and hold him at sea for ransom of $500,000.

Sees Hike In City Relief Load Under New State Law

Relief Director Says Statute Reducing County Residence Requirement to 90 Days to Add to Burden.

Ohio's new relief law which reduces the county minimum residence requirement for eligibility from one year to 90 days was seen today by Relief Director Earl A. Nist as a threat towards increasing the city's relief load.

While relief and WPA officials prepared to assign 120 additional Mansfield relief clients to the county's $1,000,000 WPA road project next week, Nist said the new law, enacted at the last session of the legislature "would make it easier for the townships to unload their needy families on Mansfield relief rolls."

Larger Cities Harder Hit.

He pointed out, however, that Mansfield would not be affected to the extent of some of the larger cities which would be bound to experience a tremendous increase.

Nist said the other provision of the law which calls for a person to reside in the state three years before he is eligible for relief instead of one as in the past, will not change the local situation greatly.

He explained that most of Mansfield's relief clients have lived in the county more than three years.

All new relief applications are being checked on the three-year state rule and the 90-day county residence period, however, he said.

The assignment of 120 new WPA workers will bring the total of 340 men on the county road program and set the county WPA total to 900, a high mark for the past two years.

The relief headquarters now has approximately 500 persons on relief waiting WPA jobs. The assignment of the 120 men by Monday will cut the total to less than 400, the lowest number in the past year.

SENATOR HERE

Bulkley, Guest at Luncheon, Lauds Roosevelt.

Praising President Roosevelt for his "wise leadership in attempting to solve our social and economic problems," Senator Robert J Bulkley of Cleveland, spoke briefly before about 100 Richland county Democrats about 1 p m today at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Bulkley, who is a candidate for re-nomination, and is opposed by former Gov. George White, was in the city for a brief visit en route from Cleveland to the southern part of the state on a campaign tour. He was the guest of county Democratic leaders at a luncheon at the hotel.

"Critics of the administration say the government is infringing on state's rights," Bulkley said, "but the federal government must take an active part in assisting the states solve their problems—especially the problem of unemployment."

Upholding the government's work-relief program, Bulkley said: "There is nothing more wasteful than forcing men into idleness when they are willing to work."

HUNDREDS FLEE BLAZING FOREST

Vancouver Island Residents Leave Homes As Fire Roars On.

SEATTLE—(AP)—One hundred families fled before a great forest fire on Vancouver Island today, abandoning their homes in the small settlements of headquarters and Doug creek.

Police Constable Caoramsey reported to headquarters at Victoria however that the settlements were in no immediate danger. Evacuation was ordered as a precautionary measure. He said the dangerous 50,000-acre blaze had approached to within two or three miles of the villages.

GERMAN PLANE SPANS ATLANTIC

Seaplane 2nd to Cross Ocean in Experimental Flights From Europe to U. S.

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK—Marking the second successful completion of an experimental trans-oceanic flight, Germany's catapult seaplane Nordmeer made a graceful landing off Port Washington, L. I., at 8:43 a m. today.

The Nordmeer made the hop in routine, practically casual, fashion. It took off from the Azores at 3 p m. (EST) yesterday, and completed the crossing in 17 hours, 43 minutes.

At Port Washington, the flying boat was berthed near Great Britain's pick-a-back seaplane, the Mercury, which likewise made a safe landing yesterday after flying the 3,042-mile distance from Foynes, Ireland, in 22 hours, 28 minutes.

The German Nordmeer took off from its "mother" ship Schwabenland at 4 p. m. yesterday with Capt. Joachim H. Blankenburg in command of a crew consisting of

HURRY, BARBARA URGES LAWYERS

Countess Disappointed Over Slow Process of Separation.

LONDON—(INS)—Disappointed at the slowness of the negotiations, Countess Barbara Haugwitz-Reventlow today asked her advisors to try to speed up arrangements for her legal separation from Count Court.

The draft agreement, it was learned, remains unapproved. Solicitors yesterday found it impossible to hold their anticipated meeting, as the Danish attorney on whom the count is leaning heavily for advice, was compelled to make a court appearance in London on behalf of another client.

BATTLE IN CELL

Ohio Pen Convict Stabbed by Fellow Prisoner.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Warden James C. Woodard of Ohio penitentiary investigated today a fight between two cellmates that resulted in the critical slashing of Theodore Wistner, 26, of Cuyahoga county.

Woodard said that Wistner's abdomen was badly slashed late yesterday by John Eberling, 20, also of Cuyahoga county, but he did not know the nature of the quarrel.

BUSINESS PUTS HEARTY OKAY ON SALES DRIVE

Representative City Group of 75 Unanimous for Crusade to Create More Jobs.

FENSCH NAMED CHAIRMAN

Leaders in Industry, Trade Hear How Plan Has Swept Nation, Its Success.

With a group of 75 representative Mansfield business men voting unanimously to back the "Sales Mean Jobs" campaign, scheduled to start in Mansfield Aug. 1, Richard G. Fensch, secretary of the Humphries Manufacturing company, today had been appointed general chairman of the committee to direct the "sales crusade" in the city.

The group of 75 heard Samuel C Mitchell, representative of the Nash-Kelvinator corporation, which developed the plan, outline the mechanics of it, and describe the success it has had in other cities.

Join in Endorsing Plan.

At the conclusion of Mitchell's talk, A. E. Allen, vice president of Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, strongly endorsed the plan and urged wholehearted participation in it by Mansfield industry and business. Mayor Claude M. Hunter also joined in endorsing the plan, and promised his support in a "Sales Mean Jobs" campaign here. Fensch also backed the plan, as did John W. Graham, general manager of The News-Journal, D. O. Meese, insurance agent, Paul W. Williams, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and V. H. Lodde, secretary of the Retail Merchants association.

Mitchell said the "Sales Mean Jobs" campaign, also known as the "National Salesmen's Crusade" originally started as a plan for a summer sales drive for his own company. It became nation-wide in scope when company executives saw the possibilities for such a

Corrigan Serves Notice He's a 'Flier, Not a Lover.'

DUBLIN—(AP)—Douglas G Corrigan served notice on girl admirers today that he was a flier, not a lover.

"I can't get over the number of girls who seem to think because I flew thhe Atlantic I would make a perfect husband," said theh California mechanic whose compass played tricks on him.

"I am not having any feminine entanglements yet in my young life," he added, as his fan mail grew into a huge stack. He is 31.

Still cold to offers of stage, screen and writing contracts, Corrigan declared:

"I will see about that half million dollars which seems to be waiting to pour into my lap when I get home, but I refuse to commercialize my flight."

He hopes to go to London early next week and to sail for home July 30.

Richard G. Fensch, above, secretary of the Humphryes Manufacturing company, today had been named general chairman of the "Sales Mean Jobs" campaign which will be started in Mansfield on Aug. 1.

COUNTY BUDGET SET AT $387,000

1939 Estimate $38,000 Over '38 Request but $22,000 Under Appropriation.

A tentative budget calling for $387,836 for operation of the Richland county government in 1939 had been set up today, representing an increase of approximately $38,000 over the 1938 request, but $22,000 under the total 1938 appropriations.

County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe said, however, that the county departments and subdivisions would have to pare their requests to approximately $356,500 to comply with the estimated available income for the year.

Despite the increase over the 1938 request, the amount asked for 1939 is still $21,700 under the total amount it was estimated the county will spend for operation this year.

Bond retirement and interest needs for the county in 1939 were estimated at $94,758 as compared with $139,120 this year.

"We were pessimistic when we set up the budget for 1938 and kept it down to about $350,000," Wolfe said. "Later, we were forced to make supplemental appropriations which will boost expenditures for the year to around $409,000," he added.

The auditor pointed out that tax collections for the first half of this year were better than anticipated, and will provide for the increased appropriation.

While most of the county's departments are requesting virtually the same amounts they received this year, the commissioners asked for $28,710 for soldiers'

SEES $2,000,000 PENSION DEFICIT

Auditor Says Advance Spending Absorbing Future Revenues.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—A deficit of $2,300,000 in the old age assistance fund by Dec. 31 was predicted today by State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson.

The auditor made the situation public in announcing the borrowing of $800,000 from the general revenue fund by Finance Director M. Ray Allison in order to meet July payments to old age pensioners.

Of theh $6,200,000 estimated total receipts from liquor sales, more than $4,200,000 has already been encumbered.

SOVIETS DEFY JAPANESE IN BORDER CRISIS

Moscow Tells Tokyo Troops Won't Be Moved From Area Claimed by Both Nations.

ENVOY HINTS AT FORCE

Russians Interpret Remark as Meaning Nippon Will Act to Force Eviction.

(By United Press)

MOSCOW—Russia awaited Japan's next move today in a new, grave diplomatic dispute, after refusing firmly a Japanese demand that Russian soldiers evacuate a lonely hill in the Far East to which both nations claim title.

It was indicated that the government was determined to adhere to its stand despite a remark by Mamoru Shigemitsu, Japanese ambassador, to Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinov, which was interpreted as a hint that Japan might seek to eject the Russians forcefully from the disputed hill.

'Threat' Denied by Japs.

(A Japanese foreign office spokesman said at Tokyo today that Shigemitsu did not threaten force. But he added that Litvinov might have received the impression that he did.—Ed.)

Shigemitsu, returning hurriedly at the order of his government from a vacation abroad, saw Litvinov Wednesday, news of the visit and the serious stage which the incident had reached, was announced last night in a long official communique.

The delicacy of this new disagreement between Japan and Russia was shown plainly by the exchanges between Litvinov and Shigemitsu as given in substance in the Russian official communique:

Shigemitsu—Japan has decided that the disputed territory belongs to Manchukuo (Japan's satellite state formed from Chinese Manchuria). Responsibility for violation of the frontier status rests with Russia. Japan demands immediate withdrawal of the Russian troops.

Litvinov—The Russian claim to the hill is uncontestable. Movements of Russian troops in Rus-

KING DEPARTS

British Monarch, Queen Leave Paris, Tired but Pleased.

PARIS—(INS)—Exhausted after three of the most strenuous days of their reign to date, but thoroughly pleased with the accomplishments of their ministers this week, King George and Queen Elizabeth of Britain concluded their visit to France today.

For the last time, they received the cheers of the Paris crowds on the short drive from the Quai d'Orsay palace to the Gare des Invalides, where they boarded a special train for Villers-Bretonneaux, about 12 miles northeast of Amiens.

There they will unveil a monument to the Australians who fell during the war.

Immediately after the unveiling ceremony the royal train will depart for Calais, where their majesties will embark for England.

'HANGMAN ELLIS' DIES AT AGE 73

Canada's Executioner Earned a Fortune Springing Traps.

MONTREAL—(Canadian Press) "Hangman Ellis," who became almost a legendary figure across Canada whenever an execution was scheduled, died last night at the age of 73

His real name was Arthur Bartholomew Alexander English and in a quarter-century as Canada's unofficial hangman he had earned a small fortune. Although sheriffs are responsible for executions in Canada they usually called in "Hangman Ellis."

PROBES CRASH

Naval Board Starts Inquiry In Air Mishap Which Killed Two.

SAN FRANCISCO—(INS)—A naval board of inquiry prepared today to investigate the mysterious plunge of a naval scouting plane into the bay near the San Francisco airport in which two navy fliers were killed.

The bodies of Lieut. James A. Murphy, 31, pilot, of Marlin, Tex., and Chief Machinist's Mate Orville M. Stewart, 36, of San Diego, were recovered by searchers.

'Absurd', Lilienthal Says of Claim He 'Doctored' TVA Files

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—(U.P.)—David E. Lilienthal, director of the Tennessee Valley authority, defended his action in having minutes of the TVA board changed after they had been filed.

TVA attorneys presented to a congressional investigating committee a statement from Lilenthal asserting "it was absurd" that he attempted to conceal matters.

Lilienthal's statement was in answer to charges that the director had ordered a number of changes made in the minutes file of board meetings. Previously Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, ousted chairman of TVA, had charged in Washington that the director had ordered the minutes deleted.

One item deleted from the minutes of Nov. 2 was a report by Lilienthal on negotiations with Wendell L. Willkie, president of the Commonwealth and Southern, on the transfer of facilities from the utility company to TVA.

"It is absurd to suggest that I should have had any desire to conceal the company's position with respect to sale of properties which at that time I was negotiating to purchase," Lilienthal's statement said.

"On the contrary, when two months after the board meeting in question, the agreement to sell was entered into by the company, on Jan. 4, 1934, the announcement received the widest possible publicity."

Give Your Half Dollars the 'Bite Test'; Fakes Found Here

Will that half dollar in your pocket "ring" and will it stand the "bite test"?

If it won't the chances are that it's one of counterfeit coins which have flooded the city.

Mansfield bankers said today that dozens of the fake 50-cent pieces have been headed off at cashier's windows and held for federal treasury department inspectors and the Federal Bureau of Investigation

They said, however, that no attempt had been made today to put police and investigators on the trail of the counterfeiters, although the lead coins were first noticed about two weeks ago.

County Treasurer John E. Kolb said deputies had been instructed to watch for the lead half dollars after a man came back with one of them, contending that he had received it as change after paying his taxes.

One of the city's banks reported it was holding about 50 of the coins which had been collected in the past two weeks.

Bankers said the coins are all dated "1937" and are a little darker than a genuine half dollar. They are slightly lighter in weight than Uncle Sam's money, but they are easily scratched and will bend under pressure.

The coins are mostly pewter, but include an unidentified metal to harden the material, C. W. Marks, assistant cashier of the Citizens National Bank and Trust company, said.

VIRGINIA KURRICH TO WED NEXT MONTH

Bride-Elect's Parents Announce Engagement of Mansfield Girl to Donald L. Snyder, of Lexington, at Dinner-Bridge.

MR. AND MRS. HARRY KURRICH, 171 West Second street, entertained at a dinner party last night at Schwarz's tavern on Lexington avenue road, at which the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Virginia, was announced. Miss Kurrich, who is a graduate of St. Peter's school, will become the bride of Donald L. Snyder, Lexington, Aug. 20. The wedding ceremony will be performed at St. Peter's Catholic church at 9:30 a. m.

A large silver ship representing the "sea of matrimony" formed the centerpiece. It was filled with blue and pink flowers and flanked on either side by matching candles. Place cards for the 21 guests were miniature ships in pastel shades containing tiny scrolls disclosing the wedding date.

Bridge was played following the dinner and prizes were won by Miss Esther Pfaff, Miss Ann Menrath and Mrs. Joseph Seibert.

Mr. Snyder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ora O. Snyder of Lexington, is affiliated with the Ohio City Service company. Miss Kurrich, who was formerly an employe of the H. L. Reed company, is an active member of Alpha Pi Sigma sorority, and is well known in club and social circles of Mansfield.

Miss Kurrich also attended St. Frances school at Joliet, Ill., and Mr. Snyder went to Lexington high school.

Busy Bee Club Members Play Bunco at Meeting

Bunco was played following the business meeting of the Busy Bee club which was held yesterday at the home of Mrs. Clara Calver, South Main street road. She was assisted by Mrs. Cloyd Fox. Prizes were won by Mrs. George Bistline, Mrs. William Sheets, and Mrs. Mae Diesem.

The floral fund award was given to Mrs. Thomas Long who will entertain the club Aug. 4 at her home on South Main street road. She will be assisted by Mrs. Charles Secrist. After yesterday's meeting a two-course luncheon was served by the hostess.

Mrs. Simpson Has Party For Bride

Mrs. J. M. Simpson, 144 Hedges street, entertained members of the Floral Hedge club last night at a party given in honor of Mrs. Arthur Simpson, the former Miss Eileen Shasky, who was a June bride. There were 18 present and bunco was played at four tables.

Prizes were won by Mrs. W. B. Hill and Mrs. Margaret Takos and these were given to the honoree. The hostess presented the bride with a piece of furniture.

A color scheme of green and white was carried out in the decorations and favors. Luncheon was served buffet style from a table decorated with gladioli and petunias.

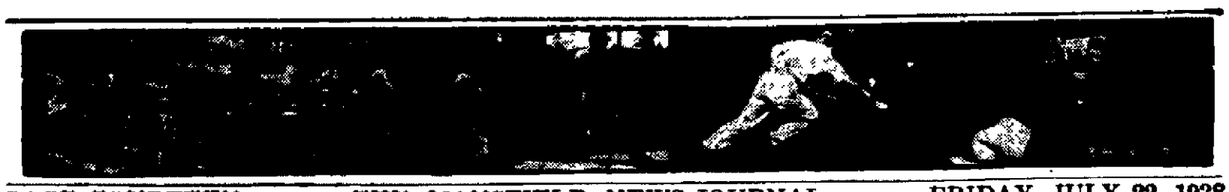
GALENTO: NO. 1 PRETENDER TO THRONE

Here's Tony Galento, the Orange, N. J., human beer barrel, ranked No. 1 challenger for Joe Louis' heavyweight championship by the National Boxing association. Two-Ton Tony thinks training camps are stupid. He does his conditioning on black cigars and foaming beer and gets his exercise running from his bar back to the hard-boiled egg counter. "Bring on that bum, Louis!" he says. But first he fights John Henry Lewis, the light-heavyweight champion, in Philadelphia, Tuesday. Upper right you see Tony being welcomed to Philadelphia before the bout.



Tigers Play In Tough Luck, Lose York

Pitched Ball Sends Padist To Hospital

Injury to Keep Hard-Hitting Catcher Out of Action Five to Seven Days.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) —Rudy York, slugging catcher of the Detroit Tigers, who was hit in the head by a pitched ball yesterday, probably will remain out of action five to seven days.

York, hit by a pitch by Monte Weaver in the fourth inning of the Washington-Detroit baseball game, was taken to Garfield hospital where Dr. Lloyd Collins reported "no evidence of a skull fracture."

"York has a pretty bad laceration where the ball hit him just above the left ear," Collins said. "We had to take four stitches to sew him up. There was no marked concussion."

By SID FEDER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

A WASHINGTON baseball writer, taking relief from the heat outside, ran into Mickey Cochrane browsing around among the mummies in a capitol museum a couple of months ago.

"What," asked the astonished scribe, "are you doing here, Mickey?"

The Detroit Tigers' manager glanced cautiously over his shoulder, sh-h-hed the scribe with finger to lips, leaned over and whispered, "I'm looking for a couple of pitchers."

Loses Power.

It was a tough break that Mickey lost a lot of his power when Roundhouse Rudy York was sent to a hospital yesterday, hit on the head by one of Monte Weaver's pitches while the Senators were twisting the Tiger's tail, 4 to 3.

But a tougher dose to take is that the pitching, pride of the American league only a couple of years ago, is a "cousin" of the rest of the loop right now. Schoolboy Rowe is gone—back to the minors. Tommy Bridges hasn't started a game since June 28. Roxie Lawson's luck has run out. And Vernon Kennedy has lost three in a row—hasn't won, in fact, since June 22

On top of that, Mickey, who thought he was weeding out the whackiness by trading Gerry Walker to Chicago, and who thought he had a lot of pitcher in Poof Poffenberger, is having a

Feller Faces Red Sox Today

BOSTON, Mass.—(U.P.)—Bob Feller, the young fire-ball hurler of the Cleveland Indians' pitching staff, went after the first victory of his career in the Boston ball park here today when he faced his jinx team, the Red Sox.

Feller has blazed a brilliant trail around the remainder of the American league, but has consistently run into trouble here. Jack Wilson, the big right-handed ace of the Boston staff, was to oppose him.

The Indians were rained out of their scheduled double-header at New York with the Yankees yesterday. As a result of being able to play only one of the scheduled four contests with the world champions the Tribe will be forced to play twin bills on three successive days when they invade New York on August 25, 26 and 27.

Manager Oscar Vitt did not relish such a strenuous schedule and offered the New York management to return next Monday, an off-day in the schedule to play two of the games. Joe McCarthy of the Yankees declined however.

Trophies to Be Presented To Race Winners at Fair

Carrying out its intention to put on a first-class harness racing program with Grand Circuit and Ohio Short Ship pacers and trotters, the Richland county fair board has arranged for the presentation of trophies for the winning horse in each of the 12 races booked on next week's three-day card.

The trophies, offered by Mansfield merchants and business establishments, are being exhibited in the display window of the Martin Hardware company, North Main street.

Presentation of the awards will take place following the completion of each race on the three afternoons of the fair, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

The trophy contributors, the races for which they are offered and the days on which each runs, are listed below:

WEDNESDAY—Interstate Loan company, 2-year-old trot stake; Mansfield Tire and Rubber company, 3-year-old stake pace; The Mansfield News-Journal, 2:25 trot; Office Cafe, 2:20 pace.

THURSDAY — Southern Hotel, 2-year-old pace stake; Hi-Speed Oil company, 3-year-old trot stake; Whitey's Restaurant, 2:24 pace; Evergreen Cafeteria, 2:21 trot.

FRIDAY—Keller and Ridenour Texaco Service, 2:17 trot; Rogers Jewelry company, 2:16 pace; E. S. Nail, 2:12 trot; Huston Race Horse Transportation company, 2:11 pace.

Sox to Be Rebuilt If They Fail Again

Present Boston Team Never Will Win Pennant If It Misses This Year, Home Fans Believe.

By OSCAR RUHL, News-Journal Sports Editor.

BOSTON believes that the Red Sox have an excellent chance to win the American league pennant. The present combination never will if it doesn't close the current season on top, Boston partisans believe. The Red Sox will go on the field with an altered lineup next spring if they fail.

Owner Tom Yawkey has spent a large fortune building the Red Sox, and this year is the first that the team has been a serious challenger.

Jimmy Foxx's vastly improved play this year is not due to a new lease on life, but a drastic slash in salary, they say. The Boston infielder's salary was cut in half according to reports. Told that he was being paid twice as much as he was worth, Foxx was informed by his employer to go out and prove his worth this year Foxx, strictly an individualist in previous seasons, is now an excellent team player, and helping the general Red Sox cause not a little Cleveland Outfield's Stunt to Change Rules.

THE Cleveland outfield will be responsible for one rule change next winter. It will cover the trapping of fly balls in the outfield Under the present rules there is nothing to prevent an outfielder, who is set to catch a fly ball, letting the ball drop, taking it on the bounce, and throwing to the infield for a double play. Cleveland gardeners have taken advantage of the oversight in rule-making five times this season

Judge Landis barred the play in the all-star game in Cincinnati. He instructed the umpires that they were to rule the batter out if any of the outfielders purposely dropped flies in attempts to start double plays.

Lou Ambers Confident He'll Defeat Armstrong Aug. 12

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK—(U.P.) Lou Ambers is a cocky, confident little fellow who honestly believes he's going to spill a lot of dope and luck Henry Armstrong Aug. 12 Lou said: "I may not knock the fellow out but I'll give him a boxing lesson he'll remember for a long time and at the end of 15 rounds you'll hear the announcer say 'The winner and still champion Lou Ambers'."

Hope to Even Series With Beers Today

Cabs Pin Hopes on Frisbee in Johns Park Game

One of the largest softball crowds of the season is expected today when the DeLuxe Cab and Beeber-Ross clubs renew their rivalry in the second of a seven-game series at Johns park.

The Beeber-Ross Beers won the first game last week, but the Cabs are confident of tieing the series today

It was necessary for the Beeber-Ross boys to go 10 innings to trim the Cabs 10 to 6 The DeLuxe team gained a 4-run lead in the first inning, but was unable to hold it.

The Cabs will be strengthened for today's game by the addition of Al Stickler, Prospect park star

BEERS PLAY ASHLAND

The Beeber-Ross Beers will meet Ashland in a softball game at Johns park at 2:30 p. m. Sunday, it was announced today.

The DeLuxe lineup includes Schaefer, Forman, Vogel, Judy, Weber, Villella, Morgan, Figle, Colbow and Frisbee, who will start on the mound.

Kenny, Bill and Walter Ross, Aston, Moxley Henrich, Bride, Mahoney and Geiger will appear with the Beeber-Ross club. Jimmy Fullager will oppose Frisbee.

MOHICAN CHEVROLETS PLAY IN LUCAS SUNDAY

The Mohican Chevrolets, who turned in their best performance of the year last Sunday to defeat the Mt. Vernon Shellmars, will travel to Lucas Sunday

The Lucas club has won 10 out of 13 games this season, and has compiled the record against the stronger teams in this vicinity.

CRONIN WINS IN DUEL WITH HAYDEN SHUPE

A pitcher's duel involving two former Mansfield hurlers featured the Mid-Atlantic league games.

The principals in the duel were Chuck Cronin of Johnstown and Hayden Shupe of Dayton, and it was broken up in the ninth when the Jawns scored five times on five hits and a Dayton error to win 9-2.

American Legion, Hi-Speeds Open Five-Game Series at Fairground Sunday

Dudley, Beer To Duel In Initial Tilt

Legionnaires, Scheduled at Logan This Week-End, Win on Forfeit.

THE baseball series that all Mansfield has been awaiting will get inaugurated next Sunday.

The series will involve the American Legion club, Mansfield's representative in the Central Ohio semi-pro league, and Herrick's Hi-Speeds, who have compiled an enviable record on the independent semi-pro lots.

Announcement was made by the rival managers, Dewey Durant of the Legionnaires and Earl Herrick of the Hi-Speeds, that a five-game series will be staged.

The first game will be played at the Fairground at 3 p. m. Sunday, and as this is the first baseball "natural" of the year for the city, a record crowd is expected to throng the Springmill street bailiwick.

The Legion team was originally scheduled to play in Logan Sunday, but the southern team has withdrawn from the circuit, Durant has been notified. The forfeiture of the franchise by Logan automatically gives the Legionnaires a forfeit victory for the game scheduled Sunday.

Durant said today that he will start Donald Dudley on the mound. Petie Beer, who has hurled all of the victories scored by the Hi-Speeds, is Herrick's choice.

The dates and sites of the other games of the series have not been decided, the managers stated.

RAIN FORCES LONGWOOD TOURNEY UNDER COVER

BROOKLINE, Mass — (INS) — Play in the 46th annual Longwood Bowl tennis tournament went forward on covered courts again today because of adverse conditions. With the grass courts under water or sodden from four days' rain, hope for outdoor play in the tourney had virtually vanished.

Meanwhile, seven of the seeded players reached the third round after 34 matches were finished on two indoor courts. Top-seeded Wilmer Allison, of Austin, Tex., was scheduled to play his match this morning against Henry Kulik of Salem.

ETTORE PICKS GALENTO

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—Al Ettore, who has fought them both, picked Tony Galento today to knock out John Henry Lewis "within five rounds" in their 15-round fight here next Tuesday night.

rude awakening on both counts. For Poof still has something to learn about the pitching business, but has graduated with honors and a master's degree from the daffy school. He disappears for days at a time; his training ritual just isn't, and he forgets to cover first when the other fielders are busy. Yesterday Mickey had to send him home—but before they could get around to giving him his ticket, Poof had disappeared.

Over in the National league, the Pittsburgh Pirates maintained their game-and-a-half lead by whipping the Phillies, 5-4, on Lee Handley's triple with the bases loaded in the ninth. The Giants stayed in the thick of things by trouncing the Cardinals, 5-2, on Carl Hubbell's five-hit pitching.

Split for Cubs.

The Chicago Cubs, celebrating Gabby Hartnett's debut as manager, split a twin bill with the Brooklyn Dodgers, Clay Bryant tossed a four-hitter and the Cubs took the opener, 5-2. In the nightcap, Luke Hamlin got hot, set the Cubs down with two hits and the Dodgers won, 1-0, on Dolph Camilli's homer. The Reds and Bees weren't scheduled.

The Tiger-Senator game, for the second straight day, was the only American league tilt, everything else, including the crucial Yanks-Indians doubleheader, being rained out.

The Bissman company golfers retained first place in The News-Journal Class B golf league by defeating the Auxter Motors, 2 to 1, at Possum Run yesterday, with two points of the match in doubt because of a postponement.

The only point lost yesterday by the Bissman golfers was droppped on the second hole by Tony Schadek to Frank Vild, who shot a 39 to tie Adam Brandt of the league leaders for medal honors.

The Metal Vaults bowed to the fast-coming Ohio Public Service entry, 3 to 2, but remained a point behind the Bissman club and six points in front of the third-place News-Journals. Dillon won the only point for the Vaults. Frantz, Mayer and Zeides were the O. P. S. winners.

Byrnes went one extra hole to defeat Foltz and Balliett defeated Houston to enable The News-Journals to retain third place at the expense of the Elks. The newspapermen were credited with two points as two matches were postponed.

Central Fruit and Al's Kicks split, 1 to 1, as two matches in this series were also postponed.

Tigers Trim Athletics, 2-0; Qualify For All-Star Game

Freiheit Allows But One Hit as Bengals Take Undisputed Hold on Intermediate League Lead.

BY HOLDING down first place in the city recreation Intermediate baseball league today the Tigers qualified as the team to oppose the All-Stars in a future game.

The Tigers won over the Gasco Athletics, 2 to 0, at the Fairground yesterday to pass their vanquished foes in the title race which will be temporarily halted next week because of the Richland county fair.

Plan School.

However, the recreation program will continue at Liberty park next week with a baseball school. Baseball Director Orville Kibler that special classes will be conducted for each team. The team dates will be announced later.

Freiheit was virtually the whole show as the Tigers trimmed the Athletics' sails. He not only permitted one hit, but obtained two of the three safeties secured off the delivery of Sheriff.

Freiheit struck out five and issued only one walk as he mastered the Athletics in the five-inning game. The Tigers scored their two runs in the second.

Shepherd got the only hit to rob Freiheit of a no-hit game, a single.

The second division White Sox won over the third place Senators, 6 to 2, in the other game played at the Fairground yesterday. Pappas yielded only two hits. The Sox scored all of their runs in the third.

Contra Leads Attack.

Contra led the attack for the Pale Hose with three singles to collect half of the hits obtained by his club

No games were played in the Junior league yesterday.

GULDAHL SEEKS THIRD STRAIGHT MEDAL WIN

CHICAGO HEIGHTS, Ill.—(UP)—Ralph Guldahl today sought his third straight medal championship of the season in the $5,000 Chicago open. Brilliant victories in the national and western opens within eight days made him the favorite in a field of 389 amateurs and professionals shooting for the rich prize. The first round of 18 holes was scheduled today at Olympia Fields, with the second round Saturday and 36 hole final Sunday.

Ontario Rips Eagles, 10-2

Obtain Only Three Hits to Win Senior League Tilt.

Twelve runs were produced by five hits, 13 bases on balls and a number of errors in the city recreation Senior baseball league game at Liberty park yesterday.

Although obtaining only three hits, the Ontario entry defeated the Eagles, 10 to 2, Dick Casad limiting the Lodgemen to a pair of safeties. Casad struck out five and walked four.

Graska started on the hill for the Eagles and whiffed 10 while walking six. Ryan finished the game.

What SECOND BASEMAN is most popular with baseball fans?

VOTE EARLY NEXT WEEK IN

Kellogg's ALL-AMERICAN BASEBALL POLL

Who's your favorite Second Baseman? Why? Easy to answer. Anybody can win! Vote early. Next week's Poll closes midnight, July 30!

Kellogg's All-American Baseball Poll is sweeping the nation! Thousands of votes are pouring in from every state in the Union. There's still time to vote for First Baseman—ballots must be postmarked before midnight, tomorrow—July 23. Don't miss this last chance to give your favorite a boost. And vote for Second Baseman early next week!

Sunday starts off the second week of voting in this nation-wide, All-American Baseball Poll, sponsored by the makers of Kellogg's Corn Flakes! This time, you fans have a chance to name your choice for Second Baseman!

What Second Baseman do you think deserves a berth on the fans' own All-American team? Why do you like him? Kellogg is giving more than $5,000.00 in cash prizes every week for nine weeks to fans who answer these easy questions! And each week the player who receives the largest number of votes wins a place on this All-American team and a brand new Buick!

You can win—easily! Just tell in 30 words or less why you like the player of your choice. (See instructions below.) You don't have to be a fancy writer. Or a baseball expert. You don't even have to vote for the winning player to win yourself!

So come on, fans. Help show that baseball is still America's most popular game—that your own favorites are the most popular players in the game today! Vote now and vote often! Today and tomorrow for First Baseman. Next week for Second Baseman. Remember—you have 1,004 chances every week for nine weeks to win a big cash prize!

HOW TO VOTE!

1. Write on plain paper or on the official entry ballot obtainable from your grocer (It contains full rules and information).
2. Name your favorite First or Second Baseman and give name of his team (He may be any professional player in any league today).
3. Complete in 30 additional words or less this statement: "I like him because . . .".
4. Give your name and address.
5. Give your grocer's name and address.
6. Attach two tops from packages of Kellogg's Corn Flakes and mail to Kellogg All-American Committee, Howard-Clark Bldg., Chicago, Ill.
7. Your vote for First Baseman must be postmarked not later than midnight, Saturday, July 23. For Second Baseman, not later than midnight, Saturday, July 30.

More than $5,000.00 IN CASH PRIZES EVERY WEEK FOR 9 WEEKS!

$500.00—First Prize
$100.00—Second Prize
$50.00—Third Prize
$25.00—Fourth Prize
AND 1000 $5 cash prizes

STOCK DEALERS ENCOURAGED BY BUSINESS NEWS

Issues Advance After SEC Shot at Utilities Dampens Sentiment.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Buying restoratives were applied to the stock market today after an early attack of "nerves" had resulted in declines running to a point or so.

Sentiment apparently was dampened a bit when the S. E. C. took another shot at the utilities, the target this time being the Associated Gas & Electric company.

At the same time business news continued to give encouragement here and there and speculative forces seemingly were none too eager to dispose of stock holdings, although limiting commitments pending a clearer view of trends.

The recovery in bonds slowed down, but rails and selected industrials were in moderate demand. Commodities were narrow. Foreign securities markets were quiet.

On the upside fractions to more than a point were Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Westinghouse, American Tobacco "B," McKeesport Tin Plate, Air Reduction, Union Carbide and J. I. Case.

Carriers were bolstered by a slightly more than seasonal upturn in last week's freight loadings, announced today.

Backing up the steels were reports mill operations in virtually all districts would be stepped up again next week.

Coppers were aided by a boost in the domestic price of the metal of ⅛ of a cent a pound to 9⅞ cents.

There was a handful of good earnings statements among numerous sour ones for the second quarter.

CHARGE THREAT AGAINST BONDS

Sawyer Leaders Say Teacher Quit Campaign Rather Than Jeopardize School Issue.

members of my organization say or do."

Correll's resignation was announced by Baer, himself a former Democratic executive committee chairman.

Baer issued a statement charging that Davey forces had forced Correll's resignation under threat of making a political issue out of the non-political school bond issue. His statement, however, did not mention Kallmerten by name.

The statement follows:

"I regret to report that John Correll will not be permitted to continue his active support for Charles Sawyer. His withdrawal from the primary campaign has been made necessary by threats of the leaders of the local Davey machine to use their machine-directed vote to bear on the school bond issue.

"The Sawyer-for-Governor organization feels that the school bond issue is not a political one and should not be made one. It is an issue of local importance only. Rather than chance the fulfillment of the Davey threat, the Sawyer organization feels that in the best interests of the citizens of Mansfield that Mr. Correll should withdraw.

"It is only fair and just that they (citizens) should be permitted to vote their choice on the school bond issue without feeling that its passage or rejection might be influenced by a machine-controlled vote whose only aim is punishment against those who are working against Davey."

The situation which led to Correll's withdrawal has been brewing for two weeks and was outlined to Sawyer himself when he was here last Tuesday. Sawyer agreed it was learned that Correll should withdraw rather than permit his activities in the gubernatorial contest to jeopardize the bond issue.

School officials said they know nothing of the situation of Correll's resignation. They commented that his "politics is his own business." Correll is president of the Young Democrats club.

Board Member Approached.

A member of the school board who declined to permit the use of his name said today however that Kallmerten had approached him recently and said:

"Do you know that John Correll is working for Sawyer and that I'm working for Davey."

The board member said he refused that neither he nor the board were interested in politics.

Correll commenting on his resignation said his withdrawal from an active part in the Sawyer campaign would not change his views.

"My vote will go to Mr. Sawyer," he said denying the truth of reports he said had been circulated in the city that he was withdrawing from the Sawyer committee and would support Davey.

Denver Seismologist Says Shocks Were of 'Serious' Intensity.

DENVER—(INS)—An earthquake described as serious was reported today by Father A. W. Forestall seismologist at Regis college here.

Father Forestall said the tremor was about 1,500 miles from Denver but he could not estimate the direction. If the disturbance occurred on land Father Forestall said it would have been destructive.

Colorado was admitted to the Union in the centennial year, 1876.

NAZIS TAKE 32 MILLIONS AS 'FLIGHT TAX' FROM JEWISH

(By International News Service)

BERLIN—Jews emigrating out of Germany to seek a better life abroad paid the German government in so-called "flight tax" during 1937 the sum of $32,562,500, according to official tax figures as published.

Official quarters claim that only 15,000 Jews departed last year, which would mean that the average Jew laid down on the line some $2,000 apiece for the privilege of leaving Naziland. This does not include the sacrifice of property and business which follows automatically.

The Institute for the Study of Jewish Problems publishes figures on the emigration of Jews since the Nazis assumed power and the Jews were branded as undesirable aliens by their Nazi countrymen.

Dr. Traub, an expert on Jewish matters, estimated that close to 100,000 Jews left Germany between February, 1933, and the end of March, 1936. But the Nazis are of the opinion that the emigration is proceeding too slowly. The "Berliner Tageblatt" recalled the claim by a Nazi expert on Jewish problems that if emigration continued at the present rate "it will take 30 years until the last Jew of the Jewish faith has left Germany."

This, for the Nazi, is a very long time. Field-Marshal Goering, speaking in Austria, set four years as the time limit in which Nazi would clear most of the Jews out of Vienna.

"Only 21,000 Jews emigrated from Germany in 1936, 8,000 of whom went to Palestine, 10,000 overseas, and 3,000 to European countries" asserts the Institute. The Jewish Relief organization in Germany estimated that only 5,192 of those emigrating were in need of relief. The others were able to leave because they had sufficint funds of their own. In 1937, it is asserted, 15,000 Jews left Germany, 4,000 of whom went to Palestine.

The German government is taking all the "necessary" measures to make Jews realize that their emigration from Germany is desirable, even for Jews born in Germany and Jews whose families have been settled in Germany for several centuries or generations.

THEATER

WHEN Franchot Tone's present movie contract expires he plans to go back to the stage because of his broken romance with Joan Crawford, but the public may keep him in Hollywood. Tone's box office rating has gone up considerably in recent months, and his work in "Three Comrades" marks him one of the most sincere of players. His next picture at M-G-M will be in "Three Loves Has Nancy," with Robert Montgomery and Janet Gaynor . . . At the same studio work starts shortly on "Stablemates" with Wallace Beery and Mickey Rooney. Young Rooney has 10 pounds to take off however, before he can play the jockey role . . . and "Listen, Darling" also gets under way there with Freddie Bartholomew teamed with Judy Garland.

Beal Is Missourian.

John Beal, who plays the juvenile lead in Wallace Beery's latest picture, "Port of Seven Seas," current at the Ohio, is a Joplin, Mo., boy who majored in drama at the University of Pennsylvania, and then started on the stage with the Hedgerow players in Philadelphia. He has done several memorable pieces of work in Hollywood—"Little Minister" "Another Language" and "Double Wedding"—but he spends more time on the stage than he does in the film studios, reserving the right to go back to Broadway once a year. In his current picture, he is Beery's son, torn between love of his girl and love of the sea. Maureen O'Sullivan and Frank Morgan are major players.

Border Excitement.

Smuggling cattle and munitions out of the country to aid a foreign nation against the neutrality law is the basis of "Border G-Men" in which George O'Brien is featured at the Madison. O'Brien is a government man sent to the border in Texas to learn how cattle and arms are being sent across. He runs into a nest of smugglers and also meets the right girl who aids him in his fight. Laraine Johnson, Rita LaRoy and John Miljan are in the cast. A short subject of interest to Ohioans is one of the series which shows interesting places in the state, as well as historical monuments.

Real Life Story.

"Ticket To A Crime," opening today at the Majestic, is an exciting story of the theft of a pearl necklace and the murder of a man to make it appear he has stolen it. The story finds a parallel in newspaper headlines of more than 40 years ago in the Van Deyer case on Long Island when a pearl necklace, valued at $150,000 was stolen by the international crook, Henri Dubois, later murdered by a private detective. Ralph Graves, Lois Wilson, James Burke, Charles Ray and Lola Lane are in the cast. In "Phantom Ranger," Tim McCoy is a government investigator assigned to catch a band of counterfeiters who has kidnaped a treasury employe to engrave their plates. Both films run through Saturday.

A Six-Gun Hero.

Ushering the old wild West into actuality with the crashing of six-guns, pounding hoofs and hard fighting, Bob Steele comes to the Ritz today for a two day showing of "The Feud Maker." The story centers around a hard riding, reckless youngster who finds himself accused of murdering his uncle. How he proves his innocence "in the nick of time" and wins the girl makes an exciting out-door picture. Wayne Morris, who came to pictures through his athletic prowess, is one of the latest players to play the role of Tarzan, and the second feature is "Tarzan's Revenge." A Tim Tyler episode rounds out the bill.

JOY-RIDES WITH CORPSE, HEARSE

Ex-Policeman Allegedly Goes On Spree, Lands In Jail.

WORCESTER, Mass. — (INS) — Thomas J. Conlon, 43, a former policeman, allegedly "borrowed" a hearse and went for a ride.

Three quarters of a mile later he pulled up to a curb, stepped around to the back, opened the rear doors and asked William Valatka, a bystander, to "give me a lift with this thing, will you?" It was a body in a basket.

Valatka notified police. The hearse had been reported stolen by a Holyoke undertaker. Conlon was charged with operating an automobile under the influence of liquor.

BUSINESS OKAYS SALES CRUSADE

Representative City Group of 75 Unanimous for Campaign to Create More Jobs.

campaign spurring business of all kinds into recovery.

Brings Startling Increase.

The first "Sales Mean Jobs" drive was held in Lincoln, Neb., Mitchell said, "because business in the town was neither good nor bad." The drive brought about startling increases in all kinds of business.

"The plan is so simple," Mitchell said, "that it takes a tremendous number of words to explain it."

"It is simply a drive to sell people what they need—now. It is true that a great many people are out of work, and unable to buy. But it is also true that there are a great many people who are working, have money to spend and have put off buying things they need. The 'crusade' sells them the things they need and want but haven't bought," he said.

Asserting that in every town where it has been tried—more than 500 cities and towns in the country have either staged such campaigns or are starting them—Mitchell said the cooperation of the buying public had been remarkable.

"I can recall one instance," he related, "of a salesman calling at a home, and being told by the housewife that he was the sixth salesman who had called that morning. But instead of slamming the door in his face, she invited him into tell his story.

"Let me emphasize that the Sales Mean Jobs' campaign is not intended to pester people and try to sell them things they don't need. Its purpose is to sell them things they do need."

Mitchell sketched briefly the theory behind the plan. As retail sales increase, he pointed out, manufacturers get new orders. To fill them they buy more materials, and put more men to work.

At the conclusion of his talk, Allen urged Mansfield participation in the plan.

"We need to get rid of our complacency," he told the assemblage. "We have been satisfied to sit around complaining about how bad business is, and wondering when the depression will end, without doing anything to end it. There are people who will buy things—all kinds of things—if salesmen really try to sell them those things."

At the conclusion of the meeting, Joy A. Herbert, who served as chairman, asked for a show of hands of all those willing to undertake a "Sales Mean Jobs" campaign, and got a unanimous response. Every one present also agreed to serve on the general committee.

With the selection of Fensch as general chairman, other committees will be named. When details of the plan have been worked out, a mass meeting of all sales people in all lines of business will be held, as a "kickoff" for the drive.

MANSFIELD NEWS IN BRIEF

Townsend Meeting — A combined meeting of Townsend clubs 1 and 2 will be held at 7:30 p. m. today at the Y.M.C.A. Business of importance will be transacted.

Shoot Saturday—The Mansfield Muzzle-Loader Rifle club will hold a shoot at 1 p. m. Saturday at the Triangle Gun club on the Park Avenue West road.

Builds Residence — A building permit for the construction of a new home to be valued at $6,500 was issued at city hall yesterday to Edward Getz, 230 Saxton road.

Youth Meeting—A meeting of the Richland County Youth Cooperative will be held Monday evening at Union high school in Weller township. Young people of Lucas high school will be in charge of the program.

Petition Council—City council had before it today a petition from property owners on Forest street seeking to have the name changed to Forest avenue. They pointed out that both city and telephone directories list the street as Forest avenue, causing some confusion.

Sent to Jail—Three transients who gave the names of Mike Beck, Joe Cahouette and Frank McLacy pleaded guilty to a charge of train-riding in municipal court today and were fined $5 and costs apiece. Unable to pay, they were committed to jail. They were arrested last night by E. J. White, Pennsylvania railroad detective.

"DRINK CARDS" SUGGESTED

SAN FRANCISCO—(U.P.)—Richard E. Collins, chairman of the state board of equalization which enforces the liquor laws of the state, favors the issuance of a "drink card" to all male citizens so that bartenders can ascertain whether the person has reached his majority and is entitled to buy a drink.

GALION HOST AT DISTRICT K. OF C. INSTALLATION

150 Present From Crestline, Bucyrus, New Washington, Galion Councils.

GALION — Nearly 150 were present for district installation of the Knights of Columbus held here Thursday night in the K. of C. rooms.

Past State Deputy George O'Brien of Alliance was the guest speaker for the meeting.

B. J. McMahon of Galion was installed as district deputy, and 11 officers from each council were installed.

The district is comprised of councils from Galion, Crestline, Bucyrus and New Washington.

Entertainment and lunch followed the business meeting and program.

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED

GALION — The marriage of Louise Anna Kumm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Kumm of Harding Way East, to Robert Phillips, assistant manager of the Morris store here, has been announced by the bride's parents. The ceremony took place Monday evening, July 18, at the Lutheran church in Frankfort, Ind. The couple was attended by the bridegroom's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. C. Hoffman of Frankfort.

The newlyweds are now visiting in Frankfort and other places of interest.

The bride was graduated from Galion high school in 1934. Mr. Phillips came to Galion from Indianapolis, Ind.

SAIL FOR EUROPE

GALION—Mr. and Mrs. Horace E. Freese plan to sail from New York City tomorrow for Europe. They plan to return to the United States around Oct. 3.

Their itinerary in Europe will include a tour of England, Switzerland, France and Germany.

They left Galion Wednesday night for New York.

Supposedly Happy Film Marriages Crash

Crash of Hollywood's supposedly happy marriages is taking movie fandom by surprise. The Joan Crawford-Franchot Tone separation is the latest. Others to come to the front in the last few days are the collapse of the Lupe Velez-Johnny Weismuller combination and the Jobyna Ralston-Richard Arlen duo. The Arlens, with their son, were regarded among Hollywood's happiest couples.

GERMAN PLANE SPANS ATLANTIC

The Mercury, also launched from a "mother" ship, made one refueling stop—at Montreal—before Capt. Donald C. T. Bennett brought it to a gentle landing here. Radio Operator Albert J. Coster was the only other person aboard on the trans-Atlantic hop, an experimental flight prior to establishment of regular commercial traffic next year.

As a "courtesy cargo," the Mercury carried approximately 1,000 pounds of British newspapers, news reels, and photographs of England's king and queen arriving in France. Half the load was dropped at Montreal and the remainder here. It marked the first time in history that London newspapers, dated July 20, were available on New York newsstands the day following publication

In about three days the Mercury will start its return flight, following the southern route via Botwood, Newfoundland, the Azores and Lisbon to Southampton, home base for its owners, the Imperial Airways.

Ships of that concern will make 14 more trans-Atlantic flights this year. Germany's program calls for 14 round trips by way of the Azores. The French National Operating company plans at least six flights from Bordeaux to Port Washington. All this is in preparation for the inauguration of regular service next year

Its survey program already completed, Pan American Airways hopes to start scheduled passenger service to Europe by way of the Azores and Lisbon this fall. Its new Boeing Clipper ship is now undergoing tests on the west coast and, if successful, it may be used on the Atlantic run.

One of three planes Britain hopes to use in the trans-oceanic service can accommodate about 40 persons, Capt. Bennett revealed, adding:

"I believe there is a great commercial and military future in this type of plane. If properly developed, great speed can be made in mail and freight deliveries.

"Of course, more planes must be built of the lighter component, like the Mercury, to be released by the mother plane."

DIES AT AGE 82

Mrs. Margaret Gerold Will Be Buried in Norwalk.

Mrs. Margaret Elizabeth Gerold, 82, died this morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs Emmett W. Casey, 520 West Fourth street, after an illness of a month.

sian territory are regulated by Russian authorities and no interference by or demand of any other state can be permitted. Japan-Manchukuo will bear responsibility for any developments.

'Measures Necessary.'

Shigemitsu—The Japanese government is not likely to be satisfied by this reply. It is necessary to take measures to restore calm and to discharge the atmosphere now created on the frontier. Otherwise Japan will be compelled to draw a conclusion about the necessity for applying force.

Litvinov—The demand to withdraw the Russian troops, not backed by any documents whatsoever, is unacceptable If the ambassador regards as good diplomatic method threats and intimidation—of a sort which certain states, indeed, yield—he must know that he cannot apply this method successfully in Moscow.

Litvinov commented that "as distinct from other states," Russia maintains armies not in order to send them to foreign countries but exclusively for defense of its own frontiers.

To a protest by Shigemitsu of the killing of a Japanese gendarme who was reconnoitering near the disputed hill, he retored

"The Japanese gendarme was killed on Russian territory, where he had no business to be"

COUNTY BUDGET SET AT $387,000

1939 Estimate $38,000 Over '38 Request but $22,000 Under Appropriation.

relief in 1939 as compared with the $15,687 they expect to spend this year.

The original appropriation for 1938 was only $9,500, far too small to care for the growing needs of disabled and indigent former soldiers and their families, commissioners explained. Additional appropriations must be made during the remainder of this year to meet the relief needs, it was said.

The request from Sheriff E. P. Long's office dropped from $30,647 this year to $24,405 in 1939. The difference, Wolfe said, represents the purchase of new automobiles for the sheriff's department and improvements to his residence at the jail.

Appearing on the county budget for the first time will be a request for $3,500 for the county's contribution to the public employes' retirement fund which went into effect. The county must match a 4 per cent contribution of employes from their salaries

The county board of elections increased its 1939 request $5,300 to cover the cost of anticipated local option election on the sale of liquor. The increase is based on the supposition that the liquor issue will come up for vote, and the money may not be needed, the auditor said. This year's election appropriation was $22,053, while the board is asking $27,353 for next year.

The only other major change in the new budget set-up is a $3,000 reduction in the estimated amount the county home will need next year. The figures were $27,014 for 1938 and $24,635 for 1939. Improvements at the home this year accounted for the increase in expenditures, Wolfe said.

Scheduled to meet about Aug. 1, the county budget commission will check the budget requests submitted by the county's 42 school districts, townships and municipalities and make recommendations for reductions if they are considered necessary.

Books For Children

(Available at Mansfield Public Library)

The highest honor that can be bestowed on a Children's book, is the John Newbery medal. This year that prize went to "The White Stag" written and illustrated by Kate Seredy. Hungarian by birth it is fitting that she should tell their most famous legends, that of "Attila, the Hun." This is a splendid story, written and illustrated as only Kate Seredy could do it.

The other prize, new this year, is the Caldecott medal, given to the "most distinguished picture book for children published in the United States during the year." This award went to Dorothy P. Lathrop, for her beautiful illustrations in "Animals of the Bible."

LOVE IN DANGER

By KATHRYN BEMIS

(Copyright, 1938)

CHAPTER XI

"On the whole, your crowd doesn't take naturally to this Robinson Crusoe stuff," laughed Frank, helping Ray out of the boat.

"They could hardly be expected to, could they—after what's been going on in Mumford?" retorted Ray, with spirit. "That half mile through the wood ahead is enough to give any one the jitters."

Her remark seemed to give Frank an idea.

"Stick together, crowd!" he called out, as they joined the other boatload of young folks who waited for them in grim silence.

The gayety of this company, which had only a few short hours before started out for a big evening, was now decidedly forced. Heddie White sang out, "Please don't take it so hard, fellow sufferers. If I'd had the least suspicion the Lily Bell would gang up on us like this, I wouldn't have asked you out tonight. But if we all stick together, as Frank Armstrong suggests, we'll thrash through this wilderness okay."

Sadie Russell, who was always bragging about her coolness in emergencies, now confessed, "I'm simply paralyzed with fear!"

"Then why not keep it to yourself?" snapped Roger Paine impatiently.

"You're welcome to the lantern," said the husky oarsman who held it. "Jes' leave it at the first house you come to—I'll pick it up some time. Bear to the right, folks, when you come out on the road—an' so long. Tain't often the Lily Bell treats folks so plumb tur'ble."

He climbed back into the lifeboat with the other man and they shoved off. The life-boat began moving swiftly back toward the Lily Bell, following the other boat already on its way.

"Well—that's that! Where do we go from here?" came from Howard Tuff, swinging the lantern. "Let's get moving!"

He started cautiously into the underbrush, the swaying lantern precariously lighting the way for the stumbling crowd behind.

Hal unexpectedly came up to Ray, laid something in her arms.

"Thought you might be cold. I got this just before the fire started—had visions of sitting on deck with you." His voice had that high pitch again, whether from anger or excitement she could not determine.

"Oh, my coat! How thoughtful of you, Hal!" burst from her gratefully. "I've needed this very much."

Without comment, Frank assisted her out of his coat and into her own. Hal went on ahead with Stella.

Presently under cover of the surrounding darkness and confusion, Ray, walking close to Frank, managed to reach into his pocket and gently extract Stella's pearls. She breathed a sigh of relief when they were safely in her own coat pocket. At least, no one would dream that she had them.

The camel's-hair warmth of her long coat cozily pleasant after the inadequate protection of a man's coat. She buttoned the collar tightly about her neck, and said brightly, "It was grand of you Frank, to be so self-sacrificing. I'm glad you won't have to freeze any longer in your shirt-sleeves."

She wondered if she had sounded too flippant, because he made no sign that he had heard. He trudged along behind, filling her with a keen sense of protection, even if they were the last in line.

Finally Hal had gone so far ahead with the others that she could no longer hear his voice. Ray was relieved to be so well rid of him. If he had at last elected to keep his distance, there would be one less problem to face. Just now, she seemed to be involved in so many problems that were tangled into hard knots.

The going at last became so tricky and the path so narrow that the crowd could move only in single file. Yet in spite of this, Ray soon found herself jammed far up ahead with the others, whose constant noisy banter and occasional outbursts of song made gay spectors out of their apprehensions. Brambles and thorns tore at clothes and skin as the young set of Mumford shoved through dense thickets, and stumbled over tree roots, clumps of fern and scrub pine; but certainly no party was ever more thrilling, more filled with excitement of adventure.

Only by the sound of a familiar voice could any one be recognized now in the darkness of the wood. Ray had joined in the raillery, determined not to be frightened. She supposed that Frank was coming on in the rear of the line, until the crowd paused in the clearing by the highway. She wheeled abruptly to speak to him but he had vanished.

She called sharply, "Frank! Frank Armstrong — where are you?"

The clear echo of her own voice came back to her like a direct slap in the face. Immediately, she was worried.

Some one took her arm. "I thought I was the evening's date," said Hal Williams. He seemed nearly sober now.

"Ah—so it's you, is it?" she retorted, playfully scornful, trying to cover the confusion of her thoughts. "You were the evening's boy-friend—but in the emergency, you run off in the first boat and leave me to shift for myself."

The others began walking along the highway toward a sliver of light coming from a nearby farmhouse. Ray and Hal followed them now, his hand still on her arm.

He laughed shortly, said quickly, "I lost you in the mad scramble back there, darling—you know very well I did. It was entirely your fault. You were probably settled in a dark corner with that irresistible mystery called Armstrong. What you see in the fellow, I don't—"

"Just a minute, Hal. Frank Armstrong is my friend. It's unfortunate that he doesn't suit you—but nevertheless, I'm—still his friend."

"Some day you'll regret being his friend," Hal declared enigmatically.

"What are you insinuating?" she demanded, halting abruptly to peer into his face, so indistinct in the shadows.

She drew away quickly and his sudden kiss barely brushed the tip of her nose.

CHARGE HOPKINS LAUNCHES BOOM FOR ROOSEVELT

G. O. P. Leaders Say Remarks Mean WPA Head's Driving for Third Term.

WASHINGTON — Republican party leaders interpreted a statement of WPA Administrator Harry L. Hopkins today as "the launching" of a Roosevelt third term movement.

Republican National Committee Chairman John D. M. Hamilton accused the administration of trying to perpetuate itself, but predicted that "the American people will repudiate at the polls this fall and in 1940 this shameless conduct."

He referred to remarks made at a press conference by Hopkins who said that he believed 90 per cent of his relief workers would vote for President Roosevelt.

When asked if he meant that they would vote for Mr. Roosevelt in 1940, he laughed and refused to be drawn into a discussion of a third term.

"I'll be getting myself into trouble," he said.

Hamilton charged that there was reason for "the constant increase of the federal payrolls."

'Command to Vote."

"Obviously the Roosevelt administration is seeking to perpetuate itself in power through the use of relief funds," he said, "because, as the president said in 1936, 'every message in the pay envelope, even if it is the truth, is a command to vote according to the will of the employer.'

Mr. Hopkins, the employer of those on relief, throws out the suggestion that it is his will that they vote for Mr. Roosevelt. When? why, in 1940, of course."

For weeks there has been a considerable speculation on the possibilities of Mr. Rosevelt seeking a third term. This has originated generally from quarters unfriendly to the administration. However, a group of Colorado steel workers endorsed him for renomination, while Mr. Roosevelt was en route to the Pacific coast, and Gov. George H. Earle of Pennsylvania made a similar proposal last year.

Hopkins announced that 200,000 agricultural workers in 11 southern states would be added to WPA rolls soon to provide them subsistence until the harvest season.

HEAR WPA PLAN

Officials, Businessmen Told of Real Inventory Proposal.

A WPA real property inventory project designed to employ 90 persons for a period of five months was outlined to city and county officials and businessmen yesterday by WPA officials from Columbus at a meeting at the Chamber of Commerce.

The project which would employ 90 men and women calls for the expenditure of approximately $30,000, largely federal funds. The sponsors' share is figured at $1,000 and would be used for materials, supplies, and rental for office space, while the government would supply all labor on the project.

The program calls for a survey of all real property in Mansfield, East Mansfield, South Boulevards, and Lincoln Heights. It includes extensive field work which is later prepared into book form with maps.

The completed survey would be kept in all public offices for the convenience of persons interested in the data.

NO SERVICES

LUCAS—Because of the absence of Rev. Carl Driscoll, who is at Lakeside attending the Lutheran summer assembly, there will be no church services in either the Lucas or Pleasant Valley churches Sunday morning.

There will be no Sunday school at Pleasant Valley.

Sunday school at St. Paul's church here will convene at 9:30, according to Dale Peterson, superintendent.

VETERANS HOLD PICNIC

The second annual basket picnic of the Luther Swigart chapter, Rainbow Veterans association, will be held Sunday at the A. M. Callahan farm southeast of Mansfield. Markers will be placed along the South Diamond street road to the farm location.

PROTEST MOVIE

Cleveland Knights of Columbus Oppose Showing of 'Blockade'.

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)— Cleveland council, Knights of Columbus today went on record as opposed to the showing of the film, "Blockade", at a theater here starting today.

Referring to the movie as "Franklin propaganda for the communist cause in Loyalist Spain," the council passed a resolution protesting the showing of the movie, which was to be sent to the theater.

PETITIONS ASK 'NO EXTENSION'

200 Presbyterians Protest Any Lengthening of Hours for Sale of Liquor.

Petitions bearing approximately 200 names of members of the First Presbyterian church, opposing any extension of hours of liquor sale, were sent to council's special committee studying the question today.

The petitions commended the stand taken by the same committee four months ago and said any change now would be a "grave mistake."

Members of the Richland county permit holders had asked council to be permitted to stay open until 1:30 a. m. six nights a week. They now close at 1 a. m. week days and midnight on Saturdays.

Presenting of the petitions followed the proposal, made by the permit holders, to close places selling even 3.2 beer on Sunday if their request was granted.

Council's committee took the offer under advisement after City Solicitor Marion D. Ward had told them that placing a ban on the Sunday sale of 3 2 beer could not be done because it was defined as non-intoxicating.

JOINS PARADE

Bowman P. T. A. Adds O. K. to School Bond Issue.

The Bowman school P. T. A. added its endorsement to the Mansfield board of education's proposed $550,000 school bond issue last night, after Supt. W. L. Miller explained the building plan to the group at a meeting at the school.

The Western avenue, West Fifth, Woodland and Bushnell organizations already had approved the plan.

Dr. John H. Hattery, member of the school board, is scheduled to outline the plan to the Newman school P. T. A. at a session at 7:30 p. m. today at Liberty park. In the event of rain, the meeting will be in the school building. The Senior High School band will play.

H. W. Arlin, president of the board, spoke on the plan last night at a meeting of the Hungarian Political society where about 100 members showed enthusiasm over the plan The society, however, did not formally endorse it.

K. OF C. HEAR OUTING PLANS

State Head of Order Addresses Special Meeting of Lodge.

Program for the annual state K. of C. outing at Cedar Point Aug. 5-7 was outlined at a special meeting of Mansfield Knights of Columbus last night by Ray McKowen of Delphos, head of the order in Ohio.

The outing plans include the final rounds of the state K of C. softball tournament which the Mansfield lodge is expected to enter.

The annual stag picnic of Mansfield K. of C. will be held Sunday at Spiker's grove on the Marion avenue road. The sports program will include two games between Mansfield and Mt. Vernon teams

HIRE TEACHERS

Butler School Board Fills Two Vacancies on Staff.

BUTLER—At a meeting of the Butler board of education held early this week Miss Lucille Stewart, of Zanesville, and Robert F. Burgett, of Carrollton, were employed as instructors in Butler high school for the coming year.

Miss Stewart has been engaged as instructor in French, Latin and commercial courses, succeeding Miss Dortha Shaffer, of Mansfield, who resigned recently to accept a position in Shelby.

Burgett has been employed as coach of athletics and instructor in history, according to Supt. Willard Weekly, succeeding M. E. Stearns who has been employed in western Ohio.

Order Doctor's Certificate From Disabled Voters

Richland county board of election members were instructed today to "clamp down" on ballots cast by sick and disabled voters unless the ballots are accompanied by a disability certificate issued by a reputable physician

The order was issued by Secretary of State William J. Kennedy, who said, "The practice of some physicians in signing certificates of disability in blank cannot be too severely condemned."

He added that "the clerk and members of the election board are charged with the responsibility of seeing that this practice is not indulged in."

The law provides that eligible voters who are unable to go to the polls election day may vote by mail, obtaining their ballots from the board of election clerk after proving they are actually disabled.

Ballots for the August primary election may be voted beginning Monday and until midnight, Aug. 6, A. F Porter, election board clerk, said today.

Voters who will be out of the city election day, Aug. 9, may vote now by absent ballot at the board of elections office in the courthouse, if they are registered.

CHILDREN HURT

LUCAS—When their hands and arms were caught in power clothes wringers here early this week, two Lucas children suffered painful injuries.

Joetta Zody, small daughter of Mrs Betty Zody, had her arm and hand bruised when it was caught in a wringer while she was watching her grandmother, Mrs. Chast Zody operate the machine.

Russell Berry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Berry, of near Lucas, received severe injuries when his hand and arm were crushed in a wringer at the family home.

SERVICES SET

MT GILEAD—Funeral services for William Fulton, 83, who was instantly killed Tuesday night in a highway accident between Mt. Vernon and Sparta will be held at the Fulton M E. church Saturday at 2 p. m Rev. N M. Weyrick of Marengo will officiate and burial will be at Bryn Zion cemetery east of Mt. Gilead.

PASTOR QUITS

LEXINGTON—Rev. O. G. Misamore, pastor of the Lexington Congregational church for the past nine years, who tendered his resignation recently, plans to move to Mt. Blanchard where he will retire from active ministry.

Rev. Misamore, who in his 40 years in the ministry has served churches in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa and Kansas, came to Lexington from Fort Recovery.

Rev. Misamore is now serving his second term as mayor of Lexington.

SCRATCH AND BITE? NO! SALLY SHOUTS AS FANS (CAMERA) SUE

(By United Press)

HOLLYWOOD — Sally Rand, leading exponent of the fan and bubble dances, insisted today that it would have been impossible for her to use her fingernails to scratch a young farmer and his girl friend who wanted to get her picture while she was dancing.

"On account of my balloon," she said, "I must keep my fingernails clipped almost to the quick. I can't have it tearing while I'm doing my dance."

Miss Rand, who wore silk slacks into the courtroom, defended herself against an assortment of charges preferred by Ray Stanford, farmer, and Miss Hazel Drain.

The story that Judge Harold Landreth heard went like this:

Stanford and Miss Drain were walking down Sixth street when they saw a big sign: "See Sally Rand in Her Sensational Fan and Bubble Dances." They paid their 60 cents each and found seats in the first row.

Stanford had his $102.70 candid camera in his lap. Several times he pushed the button. After the curtain went down Miss Rand grabbed a bathrobe.

As she ran down the aisle 6,000 people lost all interest in a picture entitled "Prison Farm." She took Stanford by the scruff of the neck and demanded the camera.

Here the two versions of what happened became so different that Judge Landreth was forced to order the case to trial Aug. 18 to decide which was true. Stanford and Miss Drain charged that she chased them up the aisle, "attacked us from the rear," beat them, scratched them, and bit Miss Drain on the arm.

Miss Rand told the judge that she might have grabbed Stanford by the suspenders, causing him to tear his shirt, and that she might have smashed his camera, but that she didn't bite Miss Drain. Miss Rand had Dr. Hershey Goldberg on hand to testify that Miss Drain wasn't bitten.

Miss Rand said she felt she had a right to confiscate Stanford's camera, because no matter how graceful a bubble dance may be in its entirety, it is bound to include "grotesque" moments.

Stanford and Miss Drain not only got Deputy City Attorney Don Redwick to file criminal battery charges against Miss Rand, but they demanded $2,622.70 in civil court. Miss Drain said her doctor bill was $10, her humiliation bill $500, and her general wear-and-tear, $1,000.

Stanford asked $10 for his doctor, sought $1,000 for wear-and-tear on his suspenders and himself, and demanded $102.70 for his camera.

FIVE ENTOMBED

Rescuers Work to Release Men in Silver Mine.

DUNCAN, Ariz. — (INS) — Two rescue crews worked desperately today to reach five men who were trapped alive in the Veta silver mine in an isolated section ten miles west of here.

The rescue workers, encouraged by knowledge that the trapped miners were uninjured, were drilling within thirty feet of the point where the men were imprisoned by tons of dirt in the main shaft.

Shouted words of encouragement came from behind the prison wall, for the entombed men were able to communicate with the crew that inch by inch worked closer to them.

"Why they are even singing down there," one sweating rescue worker grinned.

BOARD ENLARGES TEACHING STAFF

MT. GILEAD—Addition of territory to the Mt. Gilead schools since the close of the last term will require the employment of another elementary teacher, D. Roeder, superintendent, announced today.

At a special meeting of the school board, Miss Virginia Murton of Independence, O., was employed as girls' physical director, succeeding Miss Jane Griffith, resigned. She is a graduate of Ohio State university.

Roeder said the board had approved a resolution requiring the vaccination of all pupils who will enroll in the first grade this year. The majority of other pupils were vaccinated during the outbreak of smallpox in Central Ohio last winter.

BOOK SPEAKER

LUCAS—Dr. Sidney Correll, of Dayton, supervisor of the Great Lakes district of Four Square churches, will be the speaker at the service dedicating the new Four Square church here Monday evening, it was announced this week.

The new edifice, the erection of which was completed several weeks ago, is a frame structure moved here from Wooster.

STRIKE ENDED

2,600 Shoe Workers Vote to Accept Compromise Pact.

PORTSMOUTH —(INS)— More than 2,600 striking Selby Shoe company workers will return to their jobs Monday it was announced today after they voted to accept a compromise offer which will see them receive a share of the company's profits and an average week's bonus. They were asking for restoration of a 10 per cent wage cut.

The final event of the carnival, a free-for-all watermellon scramble, was won by Jacob Henke of Liberty park.

CONVICTED ON CODE CHARGE

First Man Fined For Doing Work Without License.

The first conviction under Mansfield's year-old electrical code was obtained in municipal court today when Donald Tannous, Daisy street, was fined $25 and costs on his plea of guilty to a charge of doing electrical work without a license. Unable to pay the fine Tannous was taken to jail.

Charges were filed by Raymond Hayes, city electrical inspector, who testified that Tannous had contracted and done electrical work at 145 North Main street without a license.

MITCHELL TALKS

LUCAS—Speaking on "Where the Tax Dollar Goes," C. L. Mitchell, Richland county commissioner, addressed the Monroe Farm Bureau which met Tuesday evening at the Lucas school building.

An explanation of crop insurance, presented by Ralph Mengert, and a discussion of general Farm Bureau activities by Harry Miller were also included in the program.

Several musical numbers were furnished by a male quartet composed of Charles Fox, Ralph Darling, Eugene Darling and Paul Culler.

4-H Clubs

Ruth and Virginia Knight were hostesses to members of the 4-H Merry Stitchers club Wednesday. Another meeting will be held Aug. 17 to complete the summer's work. The club is planning a lake vacation trip in August.

Plans for a festival Tuesday evening on the lawn at Adario high school building were formulated at a meeting of the Hustling Helpers 4-H Cooking club at the high school. The boys' club and the Jolly Stitchers' club will assist in sponsoring the festival. The club selected Norma Jean Clinage and Goldie Mae Adams to attend 4-H club camp.—Treva McQuillen, reporter.

BOY, 14, INJURED

BUCYRUS—Walter Michael, jr., 14, was treated in City hospital Thursday for cuts and bruises suffered when a scooter bike on which he was riding skidded into an automobile at Oakwood and Poplar streets.

TRIALS MAPPED

Conn Murder Suspects To Face Court In September.

CADIZ —(U.P.)— Theh five persons indicted in connection with the murder of State Highway Patrolman George Conn near Freeport, O., last Sept. 27, probably will be brought to trial here in September, it was indicated today.

The common pleas court jury wheel is almost exhausted of names due to many land condemnation suits in the Muskingum conservancy district and the law provides that names of prospective jurors be placed in the wheel in August.

TWINS DROWNED

Girls, 10, Found Dead At Lake Erie Beach Near Huron.

SANDUSKY —(INS)— Mystery today surrounded the circumstances of the deaths by drowning of Doris Marie and Dorothy May Webster, 10-year-old twins and only children of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd C. Webster.

Bodies of the two little girls, their arms locked around each other, were found partly submerged in shallow water in Lake Erie at Old Homestead beach, near Huron.

HUNT DUD SHELLS

TOLEDO—(AP)—Junk men are sound ranging for scrap iron on the bottom of Lake Erie a few miles east of here.

Tons of shells were hurled into the lake from the Erie ordnance depot, a proving ground for artillery in World war days, and many of the duds are expected to be found in clusters on the lake bottom.

CAMP MEETING OPENS TUESDAY

Free Methodists of Ohio to Gather Near Mansfield for Annual Services.

Free Methodists from all sections of Ohio will gather near Mansfield next week for their seventh consecutive camp meeting which will be held on the newly developed church grounds, two and a half miles east of Mansfield on state route 39.

A new auditorium with a seating capacity of 1,000 has been completed on the camp site which is known as Hickory Hall. A dining hall will be operated during the meeting where meals will be served daily.

Rev. J. Paul Taylor of Rochester, N. Y. will be the evangelist and preach each day during the meeting which opens next Tuesday evening. Morning prayer service will be held a 6 a. m., with preaching at 10 a. m., 2 p. m. and 8 p. m. daily.

More than 100 tents are expected to be set up on the grounds during the meeting. Several new cottages have been built since last year.

Free Methodist churches throughout the state will be represented at the services.

COUNCIL TO ACT ON FIRE STATION

Plan For New Building Comes Up At Special Session Tonight.

The question of a new No. 2 fire station will come before city council when it meets tonight in special session. Council will be asked to give Service-Safety Director Tracy C. Styert authority to enter into a contract for the construction of a new brick structure to cost not more than $8,000.

Council also will be asked to approve legislation calling for the issuance of $16,700 in bonds in the anticipation of the collection of assessments for the improvement of McPherson street and Forest street.

A partial report from a special committee studying a petition from the Richland County Permit Holders association also is expected.

FACES COURT ON FORGERY COUNT

Akron Man Returned Here After Arrest, Pleads Not Guilty; Trial Set for Saturday.

Frank W. Darling, 45, of Akron, a former employe of the Perfect Rubber company, will face Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch in municipal court tomorrow on a charge of forgery.

Pleading not guilty when arraigned today, Darling asked for an attorney. Judge Kalbfleisch granted the request and set hearing on the case for 9:30 a. m. tomorrow. Bond was fixed at $1,000.

Darling was returned here from Coshocton county yesterday on a warrant issued by Mansfield police. Charges were filed by Robert P. Spreng, 414 Park avenue west, an employe at the Perfect Rubber company.

Police said Darling, while working for the company had delivered an order of paint to the city and accepted a check for $22.50, issued by City Auditor Paul L. Kelley.

They said Darling endorsed the check, drawn on the Mansfield Saving Trust National bank, by representing himself as an agent for the company. They said the check was cashed by W. H. Hipp, 20 South Main street and payment made by the bank.

The alleged forgery was disclosed, the police said, when company officials issued a statement for the charges to the city. When Kelley produced the cancelled check, Darling's signature brought about the filing of charges.

ASKS PWA GRANT

Mt. Gilead Council Plans Swimming Pool.

MT. GILEAD—Formal application for PWA grants for construction of a $25,000 municipal swimming pool and street improvement purposes will be filed next week by the Mt. Gilead council. A resolution authorizing the finance committee to prepare the applications was approved at a special meeting of council.

The street improvement plan calls for the construction of curb and gutter on Lincoln, Delaware, Hydraulic and Town streets and resurfacing with a bituminous preparation. The estimated cost of the improvements is $26,000.

WHEAT GROWERS:
Wheat is moving quite freely. The majority of it running about 14% moisture and 60 to 60.5 lb. weight.
We have changed our basis from No. 2 to No. 1 Red Winter and we were paying 63c per bushel Thursday.
We are also making an exchange to the farmers—flour their wheat. Most of the wheat growers are familiar with this exchange agreement.
We would be glad to talk this over with you if you will stop in at the mill.

A Farmer's Diary

CLEANING THE WELL

WHEN I arrived to help clean my neighbor's well, I saw the rotted old top planks piled against the lawn fence. A windlass, with a strong hay rope, had been constructed above the open well. Peering down, I saw my own reflection, the windlass, and the overhanging branches of the cherry tree.

He told me he had drawn out six feet of the water that morning. By the sound of a pebble which I dropped, I judged there was still two feet upon the bottom. We lowered a lantern to find out if the air below contained sufficient oxygen. The flame burned brightly. So I placed my feet into the widened loop of rope, held the pail on my arm, and grasped the thick hemp cord with both hands.

As I slowly descended, I felt the cool dampness of the air, the smallness of the enclosure, and the uneven wet stones that lined the sides. I looked up and marveled at the blueness of the sky, receding from my sight. . . . even as I shuddered at the lonely separation from all things warm and bright and beautiful.

My rubber boots reached bottom and slipped about in a thick, semi-ooze. I scooped up a pailful and my neighbor drew it up. I hurriedly raised the slicker over my head to avoid the drippings

What a conglomerate mass was in that well! A shoe, an old cow chain, a rusty set of keys, a rubber ball, two skeletons of rats, an oldtime leather pocketbook, two pennies and a quarter. I cleaned the bottom thoroughly, washed it with chlorine disinfectant, and mopped it out. The well was fit to use again.

"Now," said my neighbor, as we watched the water fill the bottom. "I'm goin' to get me a good new pump that won't need primin', and make a concrete top so tight not even a fishin' worm can wiggle in. I knew the water would be as good as ever, if I'd just get at it and clean it out."

FOR SALE AGAIN

Kolb to Put Old Engineering Site on Block Third Time.

County Treasurer John E. Kolb will make a third attempt next month to sell the old Browning Engineering company property in Mansfield, but the county stands to collect less than half the delinquent taxes and penalties due on the property.

Appraised first at approximately $14,000 and then at $9,000, valuation of the lots has been cut to $5,100. Taxes and penalties due on the property total $11,368. A third appraisal of the land was made after two previous attempts to sell the property at sheriff's auction failed.

At the present valuation, the county may collect less than $3,400 of the total amount of taxes due, since the lots may sell for two-thirds of the valuation, or $3,400, and court and appraisal costs must be deducted from the receipts.

The property, which will be offered for sale Aug. 27, is located along the Erie railroad tracks in the northeast section of the city.

Yes, 'Sales Mean Jobs.'

WHEN the three-word slogan, "Sales Mean Jobs," is adopted in a nation-wide movement intended to help in restoring prosperity in the United States it may appear to be merely a re-statement of something that is already known by everybody.

Reduced to even simpler terms, it means that IF THERE WERE NO SALES THERE WOULD BE NO JOBS!

This is more generally realized when the idea is applied to expensive items of merchandise—but it should also be understood that the principle applies with equal force to small purchases—those of a few dollars, or even a few cents.

The National Salesmen's Crusade, already under way in many cities, has provided convincing proof that a vast volume of potential buying has been deferred—NOT BECAUSE OF INABILITY TO BUY BUT BECAUSE OF REDUCTION OF SALES EFFORT and complacent acceptance of the fallacy that "poor business" was a natural consequence of more than usual industrial unemployment.

On the contrary, REDUCED INDUSTRIAL EMPLOYMENT HAS BEEN DUE LARGELY TO UNDER-NORMAL BUYING BY MILLIONS OF PEOPLE WHO HAVE BEEN REGULARLY EMPLOYED AND WHO CAN AFFORD TO BUY WHATEVER THEY WANT.

By an attitude of pessimism, and reduction of selling effort by merchants and salesmen, under-normal buying has been unintentionally encouraged rather than being overcome by customary good merchandising methods.

Mansfield is peculiarly situated to benefit quickly from increased retail sales in the national field and it is particularly true in this industrial city that "Sales Mean Jobs" and that more sales, wherever they may be made, will mean more jobs for people in Mansfield and vicinity.

Therefore, as the "Sales Mean Jobs" crusade gets under way in Mansfield, it becomes a matter of very personal interest to every resident of this community.

To the people of Mansfield and vicinity: Buy the things you want and can afford to have.

To merchants and salesmen: Tell the people of Mansfield and vicinity what you have to sell, and give them an opportunity to buy.

"Sales Mean Jobs!"

Not Really 'Around the World.'

NOT to belittle such undertakings as that of Howard Hughes, but for the sake of accuracy, it should be said that such purported flights "around the world" are not really that at all.

They are merely flights around the Arctic sea, at latitudes that make the journey immensely shorter and simpler than any real circumnavigation of the globe such as Amelia Earhart undertook.

Study of a globe will show that Hughes' route really answers this description. His route was elongated, and pulled southward in two directions, because he wanted to start from New York and make a stop in Paris. Except for that, he might have made an approximate circle, fairly close to the edge of the Arctic sea most of the way around, by starting at Fairbanks, Alaska, and swinging eastward to Greenland, Iceland and Moscow, thence to Omsk and Yakutsk and back to Fairbanks.

That would have made a circuit of only 10,000 or 11,000 miles instead of the 14,000 or 15,000 of the irregular route chosen. The circumference of the earth, according to geographers, no matter in what direction, is 25,000 miles.

Schooling From Seven to Twelve.

JOHN A. CRAWFORD, in the Cleveland Plain Dealer, quotes a speaker who knows his educational field well as saying that we are beginning at the wrong end with our educational emphasis.

> "What we need is the development of intelligence, rather than the development of college machinery. I would say that intelligence gets its big growth in the years of seven to twelve. If it doesn't grow then it won't. We'll have to give that age all the range it can get, all the experience it can stomach, the incentives, the ideals, the will to dream and then to try to achieve the dream, the taste for wrestling with ideas until they can make something of them.
> "Instead of piling up more endowments at the tail-end of the usual education period, the college and university years, the great effort should be applied in the elementary and junior high school years."

The speaker believes that in that early period college education is made worth its investment. Giving its benefits to students who have not been prepared in that previous period to take advantage of them is sheer waste.

It begins to look as if this were at least partly true. The theory of democracy carries along with it the theory of good education for every citizen. Not all students are book-minded enough to get the good of college. But all of them need the best training possible in the formative years. The first six years of school life are highly important.

Rights In China.

JAPAN again has asked the United States government, along with other foreign governments, to remove its citizens from areas designated by the invaders as "intensified war zones." In reply, Nelson T. Johnson, American ambassador, has announced that Americans in China cannot be forced to leave.

The idea is that the Americans have a perfect right to be in China, and there is plain implication that the Japanese army hasn't any such right. That is the American point of view, and also the point of view of nearly all other nations. How can the Japanese, intruding by force in China without a declaration of war, order other people out?

Such independence is fine if this and other nations can get away with it. It is noble, but risky.

Things are very confusing and some people don't know whether to worry most about the record-breaking grain crop that is said to have cursed the country or the record-breaking swarms of grasshoppers that are ruining Montana's grain.

Bernard Shaw has been ordered not to talk for six months, but, during the campaign, his silence will scarcely be noticed.

That reverential motto, "In God We Trust," still appears on our money, regardless of how it is spent.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—Old line Kentucky politicians would be glad for a return of the old days when outside interference in primaries was limited, when a candidate battled alone for his nomination and the state counted the dead and wounded before it tabulated the vote.

The Barkley-Chandler contest isn't following that pattern.

Time was when Kentucky primaries were little short of revolutions, but gradually there grew up a system in which each candidate worked for himself. He claimed little aid from national or state administrations, depending instead upon his own organization and friends.

Our information is that such was especially true regarding U. S. senators until Governor Chandler bowled over the idea in 1936 by turning his state organization against Senator Logan, without success.

How It Was Done.

CHANDLER has made Kentucky political history ever since in 1935 at the age of 37 he whipped an opposing state organization under Governor Ruby Laffoon and won the Democratic nomination for governor.

He paved the way for this feat by calling a special session of the legislature when Governor Laffoon left the state, leaving Chandler, then lieutenant governor, in charge.

The legislataure, following Chandler's lead, instituted a general primary, which partly nullified the force of Laffoon's state organization. Chandler's victory over Laffoon's candidate, Thomas S. Rhea, was an amazing upset and split the party so widely that both Senators Barkley and Logan had to rush to Kentucky to campaign in the general elections for Chandler. They switched the campaign to national issues to prevent a party split that might have meant a Republican victory.

At that time Chandler's nomination and election were hailed as New Deal victories, since Laffoon had broken with Roosevelt.

That title of "Happy" was not given Chandler for nothing. He is a back-slapping, mammy-singing campaigner with a friendly way that charms even some of his political opponents. But he is no political peacemaker. His history is studded with battling headlines.

It's Different Now.

FRIENDS of Senator Logan say that in 1936 Chandler promised "hands off" in the primary. Instead he not only put up his own candidate, former Governor J. C. W. Backham, but brought upon himself charges from a third candidate. Rep. John Young Brown, that he had failed him of promised support.

Barkley associates now say that Chandler once agreed not to enter the lists against Kentucky's senior Senator, only to decide later to seek the job himself.

The whole picture has changed in three years. In 1935, Chandler's election was declared to have "saved Kentucky for Roosevelt in 1936." This year President Roosevelt moves in to Kentucky in an effort to defeat Chandler and save Barkley. In 1935, Republicans protested WPA workers were directed to help Chandler. Now Chandler charges WPA is being used against him.

To a degree the situation has put Chandler in a false light. He is spotlighted as the candidate of Roosevelt's enemies. Yet he continues to profess his loyalty to the President.

So much of the betting money is on Barkley that some observers thought Chandler could have guaranteed himself a political future by withdrawing with the explanation that he had been put in the false position of opposing Roosevelt. But Chandler is not waiting for futures.

Turn From Placidity.

The uncomfortable position of Point Pleasant, W. Va., should be a warning to the rest of the country. About half the homes in this West Virginia town are threatened with sale on the auction block because the local authorities have been unable to repay a PWA sewer loan. In short, the government may foreclose and then sell, if possible

Point Pleasant is described as a "placid little Ohio river town." But maybe its placidity was more marked when it got the PWA loan That is customary. Now if the town isn't ruffled, at least on the surface, it certainly ought to be. And by becoming sufficiently alarmed it might arouse other communities to the danger of placidity.

The total of loans, grants and the like is rather impressive and it heads up into a massive federal debt. We hope something can be done before general foreclosure proceedings become necessary.—Kansas City Times.

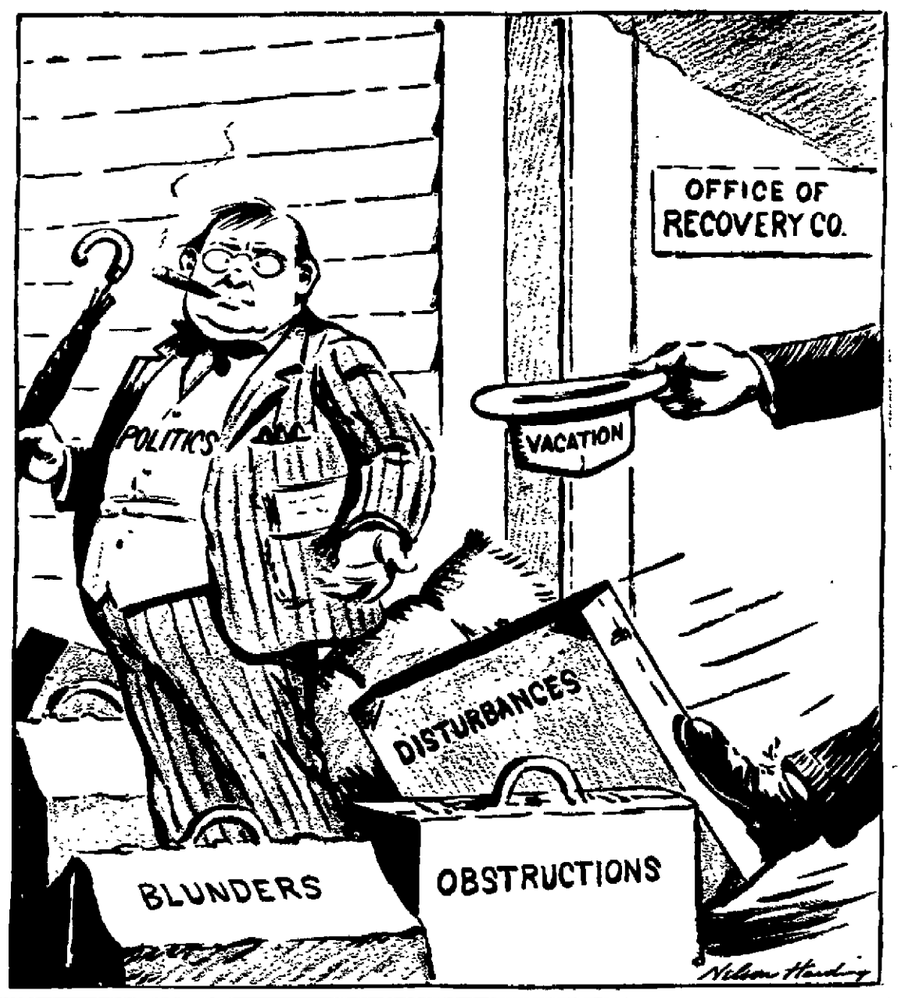
HERE'S YOUR HAT



Sees Fallacy In New Deal Theory

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON—A very prominent New Dealer, Thurman W. Arnold, now the official trust buster of the administration, frequently expresses amazement at the morals and sense of civic duty and mental processes which permit big corporations to cut wages or lay off help if they have a surplus at the time.

The curious element about this statement is that it comes from the official trust buster. It involves a very simple question in economics, which any one who has even been in busiuess, even if it were a peanut stand, can follow.

To dismiss all questions of morality, loyalty to one's employes, and that sort of thing, assume that the Ford Motor company has a huge cash surplus, which it actually has, but that NONE of its competitors has, which is not true. Also assume that Henry Ford is deeply imbued with the thought that Mr. Arnold thinks he should have. (The writer does not know that Mr. Arnold has ever applied his theory to the automobile industry. He talks mostly about steel when he is discussing it).

WHAT would happen when the normal situation, which results in cutting pay or laying off workers, develops? Obviously Ford, having a big surplus, would go on producing cars at top speed, while his competitors, in this illustration not having any surplusses on which to draw, would have to close down.

There being no demand for cars, that being the cause of the situation, Ford would be forced to do one of two things. He could either store his product in the hopes that a revival of buying would eventually take them off his hands, or he could slash prices in order to force the cars out. If he did the latter, he would eventually put all his competitors out of business. He would be selling cars below cost, using up his surplus, in order to keep his workers employed.

But the moment that times became better he would have a tremendous advantage. His plant would be going under full steam. Big production would have cut his costs way down. Operation, instead of idleness, would eliminate the wastes of a shutdown. He would be able to slash prices still more in order to CONTINUE going full blast.

Meanwhile, especially if the depression were of some duration, this very activity would have made the resumption of selling by his competitors more difficult. There would not be hundreds of thousands of persons who had run their old cars a few years too long. They would have bought new Fords at the reduced prices.

There would be no backlog, so to speak.

CARRIED to its logical conclusion, the company with a big surplus could thus eliminate its competitors, and acquire a monopoly in almost any field. In fact, this type of strategy is precisely what there was the most complaint about back in the days when Theodore Roosevelt was busting trusts. The practice regarded as iniquitous was that they would cut prices in territory served by their competitors—until they had driven them out of business.

There is a very good reason for NOT piling up the product in warehouses. Former Governor Walter J. Kohler, of Wisconsin, tried that, when the depression broke in 1929. He not only lost a lot of money by his moral course, but labor did not seem to appreciate it. He was badly beaten, largely by the labor vote, in the next election!

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Monday, July 22, 1918.

Plans were completed for new office building of Mansfield Sheet & Tin Plate company on Bowman street.

Miss Fanchon Sampsel and Ensign Walter E. Schmitt were married by Rev. F. A. Schreiber.

Birthday: Edward W. Loughridge.

Police received reports of forged checks having been passed on several saloon keepers.

Miss Margaret Husted and Albert W. Rhees were married by Rev. W. R. Polhamus.

George S. Taylor bought the Frasher farm near Lexington and moved onto it.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Saturday, July 22, 1933.

Relatives received word of the death, in London, of Frank Ver Beck, distinguished author and illustrator, former Mansfield resident.

J. Eugene Fendrick returned to San Francisco after visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Fendrick, 87 Helen avenue.

Sgt. Claude McNary, 22 Boughton avenue, died at Fort Riley, Kan.

Teachers, pupils and former pupils of Maple Grove school held homecoming at the Isaac Rider home, near Hastings.

Miss Ruth Steele and Wilbur Druschel were married at St. Luke's church.

You and Your Nation's Affairs

Communist Tells About Russia.

By ELIOT JONES
Professor of Transportation and Public Utilities Stanford U.

An ardent communist named Eugene Lyons left for Russia in 1927 to accept the post of chief correspondent for the United Press. Mr. Lyons accepted this assignment because of the opportunity it afforded him to learn at first hand about the Russian experiment in communism, and thus to spead the gospel more effectively. The cream of New York City's communists attended the farewell party given him by his friends.

Mr. Lyons, having returned from Russia, has recently written a book entitled Assignment In Utopia, in which he vividly portrays the contrast between Russian communism as he had pictured it and Russian communism as he saw it.

In Russia he found a marked scarcity of food and manufactured goods. The serious shortage created so much dissatisfaction that the leaders deemed it necessary to shift the blame. Accordingly, by means of propaganda continued through many months, a picture was drawn of enemies within conniving with enemies without to sabotage agriculture and industry. This was followed by a series of trials, which were nothing but a hoax intended to divert resentment from the leaders to alleged traitors. Persons in managerial positions, fearing lest they be accused of sabotage, began to shun responsibility as they would the plague, and as a result there was a marked decline in both the quantity and quality of production.

In order to effect the collectivization of agriculture Stalin ordered "the liquidation of the Kulaks as a class," an imperious command to destroy and disperse more than five million peasant men, women, and children. In a short space of time a population larger than Switzerland or Denmark was stripped clean of all its belongings, herded with bayonets into cattle cars, and dumped weeks later in the lumber regions of the frozen North or the deserts of central Asia—wherever, indeed, labor was needed. While being so transported thousands died of stavation, exposure, and disease.

The trade unions, which at the outset had such high hopes for the future, exentually became mere bureaus for regimenting the workers. There is no longer any pretense that the workers control the state; it has now become clear that the workers are nothing but vassals of the state.

In its early years the revolution was warmly personal, aware of suffering, even in its most brutal moments, but it is now as empty of real human kindliness as a raging flood. The socialistic dream has become reduced to a mechanical formula of the state as a supertrust and the people as its helpless serfs. The human spirit has been outraged by sadistic cruelties on a scale new in modern history.

In leaving Russia Mr. Lyons felt that he was leaving a nation entrapped. The nation was trapped physically; bloodhounds and soldiers with machine guns guarded the frontiers to prevent Russians leaving the country, and an internal passport system prevented them from moving about freely within the country. The nation was trapped intellectually, with every thought prescribed, and mental curiosity punished as heresy. It was trapped spiritually, through the need of practicing hypocrisy as the first law of survival.

One by one the idealistic features of the Soviet system have been discarded, and every month the Kremlin moves nearer in fundamentals to the fascist states of Germany and Italy.

Mr. Lyons' book makes it clear that we must be alert to preserve freedom in all its forms, whether the attack on it comes from communist, fascist, or even democratic countries. There is no plan of economic salvation, however promising, that is worthy of consideration if it deprives the people of fundamental liberties.

Listen, World!

Our Hidden Hell.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

THERE'S a hell under Straitsville, O. For miles as you approach, the stench of it gags you . . . its flame and fury defile the dusk or dawn. No Hollywood inferno, this, but an actual horror more terrible than haunted blind Milton's brain. Writing of it in the Popular Science Monthly, Robert E. Martin gives an unforgettable glimpse of its fury.

"Steaming cracks . . . split the ground between fiery craters big enough to swallow a motor truck. Hot gasses that sear the skin belch from the craters and an acrid, sulphurous smell is everywhere. . . . Underground explosions send sheets of flame 200 feet into the air . . . and the glow of white heat can be seen deep down in the holes and crevasses.

"Now and then a tree leans over at a crazy angle and finally crashes to the ground or into one of the fiery pits, its blazing roots showing plainly why it toppled. A spring from which ice cold water once gushed, now steams, its water scalding hot. Thousands of acres of once beautiful, rolling hills are pockmarked with sink holes where the fire has passed—"

A hidden hell, ceaselessly burning against all the efforts of science—this is a strange thing in modern America. Yet for 54 years this terror has persisted, eating the heart out of 24 square miles of once fertile soil, consuming fifty million dollars' worth of high grade coal, spreading continually out and out beyond the pit in which it originated.

Homes and cattle are drawn into its awful maw. Whole colonies have fled. Weeping women see their homes and dearly loved garden plots consumed. Costly barriers fall before it. A creek, diverted into it, rose, roaring, in a column of steam. Yet still the hell burns on—

Nightmare, isn't it? The very thought of it haunts you—

And yet there's another hidden hell in America . . . whose fires you daily watch . . . whose fury sears and scars you . . . whose existence is a fiery shame to every man and woman in this country . . . yet to which you hardly give a thought—And that is—

THE HELL OF RACIAL AND RELIGIOUS INTOLERANCE.

That terror in Ohio seems costly. But it's child's play besides the agony and waste and awful expense of this other eating flame. At worst Straitsville's Hades will consume some acres, some millions. But the hell of racial and religious intolerance will consume the very core of America's character unless it is stopped.

Only a few years since, those pockmarked hills of Ohio were mounds of living green, gay with flowers, sweet with singing waters, swept by the free and fragrant air. Now they are craters of seething death, in which no new life stirs—

And, just as recently, this nation was a free and friendly place . . . the noblest shrine to Liberty that man had ever built. But now—

NOW HELL IS EATING DEEP INTO ITS HEART. NOW LIBERTY IS GOING UP IN CLOUDS OF HATE. AND THAT BRAVE DREAM FOR WHICH OUR FATHERS DIED . . . THAT BRIEF BUT LOVELY DREAM OF BROTHERHOOD . . . IS PASSING AS SPRING PASSED FROM THOSE OHIO HILLS.

It is natural that men should separate themselves into different people and different creeds. It is inevitable that those of similar faith should make laws for their own protection. There is no shame in such divisions or such laws, even if at times, they must be more closely drawn.

BUT IT IS ABOMINABLE TO DESPISE OR PENALIZE ANY MAN BECAUSE HE IS OF A CERTAIN BLOOD OR CREED, AND THOSE WHO DO SO PENALIZE OTHER MEN, BREED IN THEMSELVES A FIRE WHICH WILL CONSUME THEIR OWN LIFE AND HONOR.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

OLD LYME, Conn.—It seems strange that of the 38 members of the Art association here only five should be New Englanders. The others come from every section of the country, and one even hails from Russia.

This is Ivan G. Olinsky, noted for his fine portraits. His daughter, Tosca, is here too, but she was born in Florence, Italy. Tosca likes to paint flowers.

Among the established painters here is the familiar name of Ogden M. Pleissner. Last year I ran into an exhibition of his in New York and wrote a column about it. I was very much interested in his work because the whole exhibition, some 30 watercolors, was devoted to fresh-water fishing. Pleissner is a hard worker who combines business with pleasure—that is, he paints whatever he likes to do. For instance, right now he is in Wyoming serving as a guide to pack trains, and on the walls of the association gallery is one of Pleissner's canvases, showing a pack train picking its way through the treacherous, tangled wilds of the western hill country.

ANOTHER name you are certain to recognize is William S. Robinson, who likes to paint boats. As a boy he used to hang around the wharves of Gloucester, skinning mackerel, and it was there the fascination of the sea and of boats took such hold on his imagination that forever after he has been painting them.

When I visited the gallery I was struck by the luxurious, tropical vegetation in certain oils and watercolors by Will Howe Foote. They were of natives in tropic backgrounds, and the banana trees seemed so real you wanted to reach up and pluck off a leaf.

"Where is that supposed to be, Cuba?" I asked Edwin Norwood, who was showing me around.

"Why don't you ask Mr. Foote himself?" he grinned, "here he is now." I turned to find a rather slight gentleman in immaculate linen with a pair of the most amused blue eyes I ever saw. He was very friendly and talked enthusiastically of his winters in Jamaica, land of pineapple and sugarcane plantations, where the paintings were done. Mr. Foote has spent six consecutive winters in Jamaica, but will try new scenes this winter. He plans to go to Old Mexico, probably in December, and remain until spring.

ANOTHER fine artist is Winfield Scott Clime, who prefers to paint landscapes more than anything else. Frank V. DuMond frequently devotes himself to canvases of salt-water fishing. Bertram G. Bruestle, of Yale, is an ornithologist and paints pictures of birds. Louis Paul Dessar is a painter of sheep. Eugene Higgins invariably devotes his oils to the forgotten man.

And so it goes—birds, sheep, ships and tropic vistas. You could write a history of the lives of these men and their exploits—if you had time.

But there isn't time. There is never time in this quiet byway where the Sound always summons you for a swim and Sam is preparing another of those lobster dinners.

If you had a year or a decade, maybe you could do it. But a guy on furlough for a few short days—he'd be foolish to try.

Your Health

—By DR. HERMAN BUNDESEN

THE most serious form of watering of the eyes comes from various eye infections. It is not always due to eye trouble, as it also may occur when the muscles of the face are paralyzed.

A common cause of watering of the eyes is the blocking of the duct leading from the eye to the nose. It may occur because of a tumor pressing on the duct, or because of an infection which causes inflammation of the tiny passage. In such cases, the tear sac becomes more and more swollen and finally may break open and discharge infected material into the tear sac. This is a dangerous condition.

Abnormal watering may also occur in infants because of blocking of the tear duct. This condition, however, can easily be cleared up in most instances merely by making slight pressure over the duct.

TEACHER QUITS

LUCAS—Miss Margaret Bird, home economics instructor in the Lucas schools for the past year, has tendered her resignation, effective immediately, according to Wilson S. Berry, president of the Monroe school board.

A desire to accept a similar position on the faculty of the Union high school was given as the reason for Miss Bird's resignation.

WPA Will Open Recreation Spot For Own Workers

A recreation center for WPA employes and their families will be opened Monday afternoon at the Armory, WPA officials announced today.

The playground will be operated Monday through Friday each week for all WPA workers in Mansfield and their families, according to Mrs. Garnetta Cramer, WPA recreation director in Mansfield.

Three WPA supervisors will be at the ground each day to conduct activities. They are Jeff Holmquist, Marion Leyman and Robert McCulloch.

Volleyball, horseshoe, kittenball, baseball, and croquet will be played. It is also planned to organize kittenball, baseball and volleyball teams in the various WPA projects in the city.

The grounds will be open Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 1 to 8:30 p. m. and Tuesday and Thursday, 9 a. m. until 5 p. m.

Included in the camping party are Janet Swain, Eleen Handley, Mary Anna Banks, Elizabeth McClurg and Louise Sprang.

Gideon—Following God's Plan

"BRASS TACKS" ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

(The International Uniform lesson on the above topic for July 24 is Judges 6:1-8:35, especially 7:4-7, 15-23, the Golden Text being Joshua 1:9, "Have not I commanded thee? Be strong and of good courage.")

AFTER God's deliverance of the children of Israel under Deborah and Barak, the land had rest from its enemies for 40 years. But the people again forgot God and went away into the sin of idolatry. And so we read for the fourth time that sickening round of sin, punishment and deliverance of which there are seven cycles in this book of Judges: "The children of Israel did evil in the sight of the Lord; and the Lord delivered them into the hand of Midian seven years."

Gideon's Call.

So fierce was the oppression of the Midianites that the Israelites fled to the hills and hid themselves in dens and caves, and even so courageous a spirit as Gideon is found by the angel of the Lord hiding away in an obscure place trying to thresh a bit of grain he has rescued from his country's oppressors as the messenger of God came to commission him to throw off the yoke of oppression, saying, "The Lord is with thee, thou mighty man of valor—Go in this thy might, and thou shalt save Israel from the hand of the Midianites; have not I sent thee?" At first his modest soul demurred, pleading his own unworthiness and the poverty and obscurity of his family. To reassure his own soul, Gideon demanded certain signs of God, and, receiving these tokens of God's presence and power he dedicated himself to the service of God and his country.

Gideon's Consecration.

Gideon began his great work by "first sweeping the dirt from his own doorstep." His first act of deliverance was a stroke at the idolatry of his own father's house in demolishing the altar of Baal and cutting down the grove his father had erected as the center of idolatry in his own village. Thus he testified to his conviction that the nation's ills were fundamentally the result of its own sin and called for regeneration rather than revolution.

Sifting the Forces.

Gideon's appeal to the nation's patriotism brought an immediate response of 32,000 men. But the Lord is not so easily impressed with statistics as we are. He saw the indifference of many that made up that host. So an easy way out was shown them and an opportunity offered them to save their lives and their faces and 22,000 of the would-be-patriots "beat it" for home and safety. Nine thousand seven hundred, who were just as cowardly were not so frank and needed the second test to sift them out with the chaff where they belonged. This was done by watching them drink water from a brook. Three hundred of Gideon's men were so keen for the fight for which they enlisted that they would not take time to kneel down to drink at some comfortable spot but dashed the water to their lips by handfuls. These proved themselves worthy of God's trust. The rest were sent home where they preferred to be.

Lamps, Pitchers and Trumpets.

These three hundred, equipped only with trumpets and lamps in empty pitchers, which they broke at Gideon's signal, thus displaying their torches, gave the Midianites the impression of a vastly superior force and threw them into consternation in which they destroyed themselves and gave Gideon a signal victory. It was a victory of faith putting to flight the armies of the aliens. The same faith is still the victory that overcomes the world!

GIVES READERS GLIMPSE BEHIND CENSOR SCENES

Editor Reveals Problems U. S. Correspondents Face in 3 Foreign Countries.

The average newspaper reader knows nothing of conditions abroad except what he reads, and what he reads is sometimes very far from being the whole truth, due to rigid censorships on the press in foreign countries.

Eugene Jared Young, cable editor of the New York Times, has written a book on the subject that will interest newspaper readers everywhere. His recently published "Looking Behind The Censorships," one of the new non-fiction volumes at the Public library this week, shows how the American correspondents are not only prevented from getting the facts, but also are forbidden to send them to their papers even after they have discovered them. The most rigid censorships are in effect in Italy, Russia and Germany, and Young tells of the difficulties of his correspondents there.

Another new volume this week is the Alfred Lunt-Lynn Fontanne play, "Amphitryon 38," which is an adaptation by S N. Behrman of the French comedy of Jean Giraudoux. The play has been a popular vehicle for the Lunts. The story revolves around Jupiter's infatuation for Alkmena, wife of the Greek warrior Amphitryon. Alkmena is faithful to her husband and Jupiter is able to win her only by impersonating Amphitryon himself.

Story of Strange Adventure.

"Sinabada" is the story of a unconventional childhood. It is told by Mrs Evelyn May Wiehe who has sailed more than seven seas and whose many strange adventures include living as the "Lady-King" of 60 cannibal islands.

Jean Thomas portrays with affectionate insight the Kentucky mountain folks in "The Singin' Fiddler of Lost Hope Hollow." The author has a cabin in the hills where the American Folk song festival is held annually

Other new non-fiction this week at the library includes:

"Youth in the Toils" by Harrison and Grant; "Children in Court," Hatfield; "Aircraft Propeller Handbook," Falk; "Elements of Stabling," Barton; "Business Letter - Writers Manual," Buck: "Bookkeeping for Personal and Business Use," Cradit, "Reinforced Concrete Construction," Holl and Pulver. "W Somerset Maugham," Cordell, and "Story of Old Ironsides" by Emilie B. and Alden A. Knipe.

An interesting volume of fiction is "Three Daughters" written by Ruth Eleanor McKee in collaboration with Alice Fleenor Sturgis. It tells of the three Huntington girls, daughters of a wealthy munitions manufacturer, who go overseas during the World war; Elizabeth as a nurse, Candide as a switchboard operator with the Signal Corps and Camilla as a Red Cross worker. The incredible bravery and the terrible experiences of all three give a picture of the effect of war on the women who participated

"The Dark Rose" by Maurice Walsh is an exciting tale of Scotland and Ireland in the days of the Covenanters, and is told by a soldier in an Irish regiment who was loved by two women

"Wind Over Wisconsin" is the second in a series of historical novels about Wisconsin. The first was "Still Is The Summer Night" This one by August William Derleth has for background the Sac Prairie country in the 1930's. It is a singing epic concerned with white and red men

Four other fiction books this week are:

"Death at the Inn" by Freeman "Soldiers, Sailors and Dogs," Kyne, "Revolt on the Border," Vestal; and "Body That Came by Post" by Yates

French Army Officers to Have Uniforms Like British.

PARIS—(INS)—The uniforms of French army officers will be modernized, particularly the collar, which will be opened very much like that of the British or American uniforms. It is claimed that the new cut will make the uniforms more elegant and also more comfortable. Anyway, the new reform shows that the French ministry of war and general staff have still found some time for fashion problems, despite the armament race and war psychosis

TRAVELER AT 7

Girl 'Hitch-Hikes' During 12-Hour Absence From Home.

CORBIN, Ky.—(INS)—For nearly 12 hours Imogene Wilson, 7, of Curve Hill, stayed away from her home. Frantic parents finally found her coasting in a wagon on a main highway 10 miles from her home. She very proudly related how she had ridden in two automobiles and took the wagon as a gift from a boy.

MARRIAGE CLERK TRAVELS

Kellogg's Rice Krispies is an unusual cereal! It is so crisp it crackles out loud in milk or cream! Children and grown-ups alike love these toasted rice bubbles—almost always come back for second helpings.

Kellogg's Rice Krispies' delicious flavor matches their crispness in perfection. Ready to serve. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

FIRST CANNING PEACHES ARRIVE

Georgia Elbertas and Hales Hit Markets; Berries Still Plentiful.

The first crop of Georgia canning peaches hit the Mansfield market this week and will continue through next week. There are Georgia Elberta and Hale peaches, and a few white homegrown peaches are expected the first of the week. Considering that it is early in the canning season, the prices are reasonable.

The berry market continues to hold its own, with late red and black raspberries and blackberries plentiful. Several places will have California strawberries for the week-end.

Displays of transparent and harvest apples at all markets suggest that hot apple dumpling and apple pie season is here. These are being shipped in. From California there are also new Bartlett pears, red and blue plums and seedless grapes.

Cantaloupes and melons are plentiful, with several varieties of the former at all markets. In the luxury class are nectarines, apricots, avocadoes. The Florida oranges are between seasons but naval oranges are coming in from California.

Yellow and white corn is plentiful and well filled out and it isn't difficult to pick out good, tender ears, but the price is still up around 30 cents a dozen. Richland county produce growers are sending cauliflower, egg plant, green onions, radishes and asparagus to the local markets. Cabbage is extremely cheap right now, and there are several varieties available—green, Savoy and red cabbage.

Fashion note for 1760—ladies' shoes had high heels, large buckles and round toes.

DEATHS DECLINE

Ohio Traffic Fatalities Drop 29 Per Cent For 4 Months.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Ohio motor vehicle deaths showed a decrease of 29 per cent for the first four months of 1938 although vehicular traffic increased about five per cent, Harry Pontius, Ohio Farm Bureau safety director, revealed today. He said that traffic deaths for the nation as a whole declined only 19 per cent in the first three months.

ROBINS ROUT HAWK

HERKIMER, N. Y. — (U.P.) — A chicken hawk attempted to rob a robin's nest in the eaves of a house here, but a flock of angry robins swarmed over their larger foe and drove it off.

BRITISH PLAN FOR INDUSTRIAL PEACE OUTLINED

Policy of 'Self-Government,' Respect for Law Combine in Successful Program.

(Editors: Today's dispatch in Webb Miller's series on employe-employer relations in Sweden and Great Britain describes the laws and regulations in the latter country.)

By WEBB MILLER
(UP Staff Correspondent)

LONDON—Great Britain's goal in the field of labor relationships is "self government in industry," a system under which the government stands on the sidelines and lets employer and employe work out their problems.

In practice, she does not always achieve that goal, but in the last few years the British have enjoyed comparative industrial peace. That peace was made possible by the body of laws which have been passed over the years and by the average Englishman's innate respect for the orderly processes of government. Even when feeling between workers and management becomes tense and angry, as it did during the great general strike of 1926, the British still settle their difficulties by talking rather than by resorting to violence. There was no bloodshed during the general strike.

Framework of System.

Broadly speaking, this is the framework around which the British have built their system for regulating relations between employe and employer:

1. The state recognized the right of workers to strike, but a law forbids strikes which are detrimental to the general welfare or which are designed to coerce the government.

2. The state recognizes the right of a worker to join a union.

3. A system of voluntary collective bargaining is encouraged by the government.

4. The ministry of labor is empowered to set up trade boards, made up of representatives of labor, capital and neutral members, in any industry that is unorganized or has such inadequate union organization that collective bargaining is impossible. Those boards can fix minimum wages, subject to the approval of the ministry of labor, and any agreement reached is enforceable by both civil and criminal law. Forty-seven trades and branches of trades, employing 1,250,000 persons, are now under the jurisdiction of trade boards.

5. There is no general law compelling an employer to recognize a union, but parliament has legislated on occasions for specific industries.

6. The government has eliminated many causes of friction between employe and employer by setting up compulsory unemployment insurance, compulsory health insurance and old age pensions. The workers and the management both contribute.

7. The trade union act of 1927 provides fines and imprisonment for any person causing a strike or a lockout that inflicts "hardship on the community" or "has any object other than . . . furtherance of a trade dispute within the trade or industry in which the strikers are engaged."

Proud of Record.

At first glance the system appears to be loose and cumbersome, but in the 12 years since the general strike Britain has made an enviable record. For instance, since 1926 strikes and lockouts have been responsible for an average loss of only one day's work in five years for every worker in the nation.

The voluntary agreements reached between employes and employers touch almost every phase of industrial life. There are 1,041 trade unions, with a membership of 5,300,000, and the government recognizes the necessity of close organization for the purpose of reaching voluntary agreements. It likewise recognizes the necessity of having a close organization for employers, and there are 266 employers' associations.

The result of the powerful organization on both sides is that workers and employers are able to get together quickly when differences arise and settle them quickly before resentment flares into a strike or a lockout.

There is a movement on now for reduction in working hours. The flour milling trade has granted a 44-hour week for day workers, the shortest work week ever introduced in Britain. The printing trade has reduced hours from 48 to 45 per week.

HIGH BLOOD
Pressure can be reduced in many cases and symptoms relieved, says eminent physician
Dr. Frederic Damrau, eminent physician of New York City, says that ALLIMIN Essence of Garlic Parsley Tablets often help to reduce High Blood Pressure, and that the continued use of these tablets at prescribed intervals helps to keep the blood pressure down "by dilating the peripheral capillaries of the body surface, thus lessening the burden upon the heart." This is only one of the beneficial effects offered by the use of these tablets, says Dr. Damrau. To get the full facts, send your name and address to VAN PATTEN PHARMACEUTICAL CO., 14 W. Illinois St., Chicago, Ill., and a valuable booklet on High Blood Pressure will be sent you free. Better still, give ALLIMIN Tablets a trial and learn for yourself how much they may help you. ALLIMIN Tablets are tasteless, odorless and guaranteed free from dangerous drugs of every kind. A large package is only 60c. Special economy size is only $1.00.

U. S. Demands 'Settlement' In Mexican Oil Seizures

HULL DELIVERS STIFF NOTE TO AMBASSADOR

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — The United States today adopted a stiff attitude toward Mexico's seizure of American properties and demanded "prompt and just compensation."

In an indirect approach to the question of Mexico's seizure of $250,080,000 in American oil lands, Secretary of State Cordell Hull delivered a lengthy note to Mexican Ambassador Francisco Castillo Najera asking settlement of the question of expropriation of agrarian lands.

The note invoked the inter-American treaty of arbitration, signed in Washington in January, 1929. Hull proposed that the matter of payment for the expropriated lands be submitted to a board of arbitration composed of impartial representatives from the various American republics.

Perils Friendship.

"The whole structure of friendly intercourse, of international trade and commerce, and many other vital and mutually desirable relations between nations indispensable to their progress rests upon the single and hitherto solid foundation or respect on the parts of governments and of peoples for each other's rights under international justice," Hull reminded the Mexican government.

"The right of prompt and just compensation for expropriated property is a part of this structure . . .

"The government of Mexico has professed its support of this principle of law. It is the considered judgment, however, of the government of the United States that the government of Mexico has not complied therewith in the case of several hundred separate farm or agrarian properties taken from American citizens.

"This judgment apparently is not admitted by your government. The government of the United States therefore proposes that there be submitted to arbitration the question whether there has been compliance by the government of Mexico with the rule of compensation as prescribed by international law in the case of American citizens whose farm and agrarian properties have been expropriated by the Mexican government since Aug. 30, 1927, and if not, the amount of, and terms under which, compensation should be made by the government of Mexico."

Some 4,000,000 acres of American farm lands have been expropriated by Mexico since 1915. Since 1927, Hull stated, additional properties, chiefly farms of moderate size, have been seized. These were estimated in the note to be worth $10,132,388.

Soldiers' Relief Gets Aid But Rest Of Year's Problem

Th problem of caring for disabled and indigent war veterans and their families in Richland county during the remainder of July was solved yesterday when county commissioners agreed to allocate $500 to the soldiers' relief commission for July bills, but the relief commission is still faced with the task of finding funds for the last five months of 1938. The $9,500 appropriated by the county for 1938 already has been used, due to the increasing demand for help.

A. T. Crotty, Mrs. Della Cochran and J. G. Wallace, members of the soldiers' relief commission, met with the commissioners yesterday afternoon at the courthouse to ask for more county funds.

C. L. Mitchell, chairman of the board of commissioners, said he advised the relief board members to help the unemployed veterans find WPA jobs to reduce the drain on the county treasury.

"We didn't make any promises about additional funds for the rest of the year, but we may be able to help a little from time to time," Mitchell asserted.

He pointed out that the county contributed only $1,200 for the care of indigent soldiers and their families in 1930, while this year $9,500 was appropriated and the budget request for 1939 calls for $28,710.

STRICKEN AT 50

Miss Blanche K. Sneeringer, 50, died today at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Berry, 214 South Adams street, after an illness of several months. She was a member of the First Lutheran church and Degree of the Pocahontas lodge. A sister, Mrs. Charles Perry of Blominggrove, survives.

The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Up and Down THE STREET

The flying bug has hit the younger members of Mansfield's medical group and wives are bewailing the fact that there's no known serum to combat it. Five Mansfield medicos have taken up flying seriously and one of them is co-owner of a new plane. They are Dr. Frank Maxwell, Dr. Paul Stoodt, Dr. Myron Reed, Dr. Milton Oakes and Dr. L. D. Bonar. The latter acquired a new plane recently, in partnership with Thomas E. Jones, West Second street. It's a two-seat Aeronca monoplane. They brought it up from Cincinnati and have already made several flights over Mansfield.

He is just a little heavier than when Mansfield baseball fans cheered him back in the old Ohio State league days of 1911 and 1912, but still the same old Edmund Lamy, Harry Schlegel, assistant city engineer, reports. Schlegel spent his vacation with the former Mansfield baseball star in Saranac Lake, N. Y., last week. He hadn't seen Lamy since 1912 when they were teammates but he said he has changed little with age. Lamy, a former world's champion speed skater, is the attendant at a skating rink there in the winter and tender of the locks on the Saranac river in the summer.

The busy milkman who took time out yesterday to sweep up broken glass on Park avenue west should be nominated for the Hall of Fame or some kind of a motoring award, witnesses contend. Delivering milk at a downtown establishment, he dropped a couple of bottles which broke into many pieces. Realizing what the glass would do to automobile tires, the milkman borrowed a dustpan and broom and swept up the debris.

A variety of complaints and problems come to the sheriff's office almost every day so the woes Deputy Sheriff Glenn Freeman heard yesterday were not unusual, although they were typical. Appearing at the office at the same time were the unemployed father of three children and a young wife who wanted something done about her husband who wouldn't go to work. The father couldn't find work of any kind—not even a WPA job, he said. The young woman related that her husky husband wouldn't get up in the morning to work on a WPA project. "He has a job if he'd take it," she said. Both cases were referred to relief officials.

HOWARD, TYPO OFFICIAL, DEAD

Death Ends Colorful Career of Union Leader Who Served Rival Chieftains.

(By Associated Press)

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo.—Death left unfinished today one of Charles P. Howard's last assignments as president of the International Typographical union and ended his unique position of serving two labor leaders bitterly opposed.

The colorful Committee for Industrial Organization secretary, who would have surrendered the presidency to an American Federation of Labor man Sept. 1, died last night at a Colorado Springs hotel following a heart attack. He was 59.

A veteran of numerous labor struggles, Howard incurred the wrath of William Green, AFL president, when he joined John L. Lewis and the CIO movement at its inception, though his union retained its AFL affiliation.

Claude M. Baker of San Francisco defeated Howard last May in a union election after a campaign fought on the issues of Howard's CIO connections. Baker automatically became president upon Howard's death.

Howard was born in Harvel, Ill., Sept. 14, 1879. He worked in Illinois coal fields as a youth, later learning the printer's trade in Chicago.

Mrs. Margaret Howard, his widow, said he would be buried in a plot he purchased several years ago near the printers' home cemetery. The Howards had no children.

MOURN KROGER

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Bernard Henry Kroger, founder of one of the country's largest chain store systems, died last night of a heart attack at the age of 78 in his summer home on Cape Cod.

Members of the family, several of whom were at his bedside, planned to return his body to Cincinnati today, but funeral plans were incomplete. He had been in ill health for several years and had been confined to his bed at the Wianno, Mass., summer home since arriving there Tuesday.

Kroger retired from business six years ago after building his organization from one store in 1884 to nearly 5,000 employing more than 19,000 persons throughout the middle west.

NIKOLAUS RITES HERE TOMORROW

North Main Street Road Resident Lived In County 45 Years.

Funeral services for George Nikolaus, 81, who died Thursday at his home three miles north of Mansfield on the Main street road, will be held at the Wappner funeral home at 2 p. m. Saturday with Rev. Paul Saleste of St. John's Evangelical church officiating. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery. The body will remain at the home until Saturday morning.

Mr. Nikolaus was born in Monroe county, July 15, 1857, and came to this vicinity 45 years ago. He was a member of St. John's church.

Surviving are his wife, four sons, Lawrence, Harold and Henry of Mansfield and Arthur at home; a daughter, Louise at home, and eight grandchildren.

BLAME SABOTAGE FOR FIRE THAT DESTROYS VANCOUVER ISLAND

COURTENAY, B. C. — (U.P.) — Forestry department officials today charged that sabotage and incendiarism were responsible for the spread of a fire that swept toward this Vancouver island community after destroying the fishing resort of Forbes Landing.

A crew of more than 1,500 men fought the fire along a 20-mile front. Although it had been burning since July 5, it was not until a week ago that the flames got out of control. Authorities estimated that the loss to date has exceeded $300,000.

It had been suspected for days that men who wanted work had started some of the fires. Today there was direct evidence of sabotage.

Forbes Landing was destroyed, officials said, because water pumps jammed with sugar in their motors. Axes and knives apparently had been used to cut hose into such short pieces that it was of no use.

Lack of equipment left the fighters helpless. The most they could do was to warn residents that they would be unable to save the town. The hotel, general store, cabins and such fishing equipment as was left behind was destroyed.

Authorities announced that 200 men who were strangers in this area and had applied for jobs as fire fighters had been ordered back to Vancouver. An investigation of the Forbes Landing incident was begun and arrests were expected to follow.

Forestry officials said that careless campers, and lightning probably were responsible for the first fires. But with the spread of the flames they became convinced that many fires were started intentionally.

DRIVER HURT

Five Escape Injury in Two Crashes Near City.

One Mansfield resident was injured and five other persons escaped injuries in two auto accidents that occurred within 20 minutes Thursday evening near the city, according to reports today of state highway patrolmen.

In General hospital is W. A. Stroup, jr., 26, of 131 Western avenue, who suffered chest and arm injuries.

Stroup was injured about 5:20 p. m. Thursday in Windsor when his car struck a car driven by Verne Lersch, 121 Stewart avenue, and then hit a bridge, according to Highway Patrolman C. W. Cale and D. D. Nicholas. With Stroup was John Selby, 114 West Third street, and riding with Lersch was Arthur Fulger, 189 Harker street. None was injured.

Carl F. Robins, R. D. 2, Norwalk, and Oscar Faulke, Shelby, escaped injury when their cars collided at the intersection of the Bowman street road and route 96, four miles east of Shelby at 5 p. m. Thursday. Robins struck the Faulke car when he failed to stop at the intersection, according to Corporal Scott B. Radcliffe and Patrolman C. H. Thebodeau, who investigated.

Former Governor Says He'll Stump for Davey's Foe in Message to Rally.

(By Associated Press)

DAYTON — The support of James M. Cox, one of the state's foremost Democrats, and the Cuyahoga County Democratic Executive committee was thrown today behind the gubernatorial campaign of Charles Sawyer, who told an audience here that he would "run the chiselers and grafters out of the statehouse."

Cox, who served three terms as governor of Ohio, announced his support in a letter read at a rally last night, and said he "expected to have something to say to the Democracy of Ohio before the primary."

While Gov. Martin L. Davey, Sawyer's only opponent in the Aug. 9 primary, was pleading with a Cleveland audience to stop booing and heckling him and "be good sports," the county committee agreed by a standing vote to endorse Sawyer.

Reign Not a 'Good One.'

"I have no personal quarrel with the governor, but I don't think his administration has been a good one," said W. B. Gongwer, chairman of the county's central committee. Davey spent much of yesterday conferring with members of the executive group, whose endorsement followed similar action by ward leaders.

Cox, who was his party's presidential candidate in 1920, said in his endorsement:

"He (Sawyer) is not only entitled to the support but the gratitude of every citizen who reveres the honor of our state and the great traditions of the governor's office.

"It requires a man of courage to conduct a campaign based upon the high purposes of official housecleaning. Mr. Sawyer has demonstrated these qualities. I will support him heartily."

Sawyer, replying to statements on "law and order" contained in Davey's campaign addresses, declared last night that "I do not yield to any man in respect for law and order."

Davey told his noisy audience that he was "sympathetic with labor, but the strikers were being misled." He referred to the steel strike last summer when he ordered troops into the Mahoning valley.

WIDOW, 79, DIES

Mrs. Orinda Bell, Teacher 50 Years, Was Native of City.

Mrs. Orinda Bell, 79, widow of Benjamin Bell, died at the home of her nephew, Archer Knofflock, Linden road, Thursday evening after a lingering illness.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Doctors Face Problem In Attempting Treatment of Venereal Diseases

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—The names of the venereal diseases are practically household words and the government has undertaken to fight the diseases.

Now it should be permissible to consider the reasons for the attitude of those doctors who either refuse to handle such practice at all or demand cash on the line from venereal patients before they will undertake to treat them. Such conduct may seem brutal and might even be construed as a violation of the doctor's oath, but wait.

When the devil is sick, the devil a monk would be, and it is a truth of many such invalids that they are almost pious, if not quite so, in their fright when they first answer sick call. But it seems to be a characteristic of both diseases that confidence and optimism return when the outward symptoms are checked.

Doctors have no illusions about the solemn resolutions of patients, knowing that fear wears off and that even medical students and internes, who have been viewing the most terrifying consequences, may go out on their nights off and take the same chances that an ignorant bum takes because he knows no better.

Knowledge of the risk, even past experience, is no sure, permanent deterrent, and the mature medical man develops a hard-boiled, practical, but not necessarily cynical, attitude toward venereal patients.

Some of them simply deliver such patients over to specialists, who have a straight business scale of treatment, demanding a certain amount in advance and further payments always slightly in advance of the course, as treatment goes on, so that the patients will not lost interest. Many others in general practice have a flat rate for the course, payable in advance. Some cases require more treatment than others, but that is unpredictable. They average up.

On this basis of the experience of private doctors, a considerable percentage of the patients who will take advantage of the public facilities will drop from the clinic rolls as soon as they think they are out of the woods. They will feel better and they will decide that, even though they may not be cured, to the satisfaction of the doctors, they are cured enough.

They will then go their merry way, many of them with plenty of money for down payments on new cars or for liquor or non-essentials, until presently they come down again of their own poison or of reinfection.

When they report back to start over again, the public doctors will have no choice in the matter. They will have to begin at the beginning, even though they feel sure that the patient will drift away again after certain early results have been obtained. To make sure of complete treatment it would be necessary to impound such papients or place them under bonds which charity cases could not afford to post.

This is one line of medical work which most doctors in private practice, aside from the venereal specialists, will be glad to waive over to the public facilities.

The doctor spends much time and money learning his business, he has to pay rent and buy groceries and shoes for the baby, and it naturally burns him up to see his venereals with unpaid bills on his books buying drinks for the ladies at Joe's bar and grill or driving up Main street in new second-hand jalopies.

Hollywood Speaks---

By ROBBIN COONS

(Edgar Allan Woolf, who started his ghost-writing early, takes a turn at it in behalf of Robbin Coons, our Hollywood columnist, who is on vacation.)

By EDGAR ALLAN WOOLF

HOLLYWOOD—I go back to the days of one of America's greatest columnists, Rennold Wolf. I'll never forget the thrill I had when, at the age of 18, he put my picture in his column, announcing that I had placed a play with Al Woods. It gave me a good idea, though. I sent the play to Al Woods and he did take it, so Rennold Wolf became something more than a columnist in my life.

Rennold was going on a week-end vacation and asked me if I'd write his column for a day. I was tickled to death, never realizing how careful you must be in what you say about people in columns, especially if they're good fighters. Well, my column resulted in two of the strongest actors of the American stage breaking up the Astor Hotel bar, and only because I had said one was out with the other's wife.

Rennold had to square it the next day, so he gave the actor's wife a twin sister. The next night the two actors were standing together at the restored Astor bar for a convivial highball.

Writing a column about picture celebrities is almost bound to make enemies for a writer unless he's very careful, so the lesson I learned by the Rennold Wolf experience is uppermost in my mind as I prepare this one. My great good fortune is that it's only one. I have often marveled at the columnists who get out long columns, crammed with good material, every day. I have watched them at the Brown Derby and at parties jotting down names and notes on bits of paper. The wonder is that the next day the jumble appears as a finely written story.

Maybe the best thing I can do is write about cooking. The only literary work I ever did, aside from screen and stage writing, was to write a cook book. And Hollywood is famous for its cooks. When George Rector came out the cooks of Hollywood gave a dinner for him that astounded him. In fact, it alarmed him. If he'd eaten everything on the menu it would tave taken three nights at the banquet board, and probably the rest of the year in a hospital.

Maria Jeritza makes the best Hungarian Goulash in Hollywood, and May Robson the best ginger cookies, I believe, in the world. Roast beef a la Edward Arnold is something equalled only by the roast beef Edward Everett Horton's mother prepares. Maureen O'Sullivan's ancient Irish recipe for ham, boiled in beer and then baked, is a gastronomic masterpiece. I think foods should achieve as much fame as the stars who prepare them, and that Konigsburger Klops a la Miliza Korjus, Eier Schaum a la Luise Rainer, potage a la Reine a la Fernand Gravet, should be so immortalized, to say nothing of Reginald Denny's Indian curry, the horseradish sauce Buster Keaton makes for boiled beef or the Bouilbaise Minna Gombel learned to make in New Orleans.

Or ask me.

What Ails Philandering Oldsters?

By VIRGINIA LEE

Why do you suppose staid folk (or those who are old enough to be staid) want to cut up, flirt and have love affairs with each other like youngsters? What do they get out of it?

Well, I suppose they get a certain amount of excitement which makes prosaic lives seem worth while. And they get a certain stimulation to their egos, the feeling that they amount to something and are attractive and desirable. All this is very gratifying

They forget that they lose more than they gain They achieve undesirable notoriety that reflects upon their families as well as on themselves. "He isn't any good, he runs around with women," folk say. Or, "she runs around with other men," gossips say scornfully There is something cheap in the thought that follows those whisperings. They are disloyal to their trusts — second raters

Daughter Knows.

And what can their mates do? Mrs R. A. R has a husband who is having an affair with another man's wife. She "runs" after him, says Mrs. R, but he seems perfectly willing to be sought. He has grown less affectionate to his wife. Even his daughter knows about it and tells her mother that her young friends point out the woman in question as her dad's girl friend The husband and wife are both 45 years old, and the 'woman friend" is presumably not much younger.

It seems to me you have done all you can toward breaking up your husband's affair with this woman, Mrs. R Does he know that your daughter is being taunted by her young friends about this affair? I should think that the shame of such a thing would keep him from making such a fool of himself. If it doesn't, the best thing you can do is to ignore it. Agree with alacrity to any changes he wants to make in your household arrangements Go to your sister's for visits and take any trip that is planned for you By staying at home you cannot keep him in sight all the time, so have as good a time as possible, and try to keep your mind off the affair.

If women only could take such affairs unemotionally But of course that is impossible where their love, or their feelings, or even their pride, is concerned. I imagine the less you say and the less you spy upon him the quicker he will recover. What does the woman's husband encourage her for? Is he trying to get rid of her? I imagine if he divorces her your husband will get cold feet right away. He will feel that while it is fun to have a secret (or what he hopes is a secret) affair with her, he wouldn't want to marry her, supposing you set him free.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

KEEPING A LOSER

Ordinarily you try to get rid of any losing card when playing a suit contract, by ruffing it or otherwise. Upon occasion, though, it is better to hold on to such a card as part of the machinery necessary to producing a squeeze at the end. If the one defender who can beat that card has to guard another suit too, he may find himself unable to fulfill his double assignment. In guarding your loser, he may have to discard a guard to some other card.

South bid 1-Spade on this deal and North jumped to 3-Spades. After 4-Diamonds by South, North went to 4-No Trumps, South bid 5-No Trumps and North 7-Spades.

West led the heart 4 and dummy's A captured the trick. Declarer then cashed two rounds of trumps and the diamonds A, Q, and J. Next the spades Q and J were played and a diamond to dummy's K. On the spade 10, South then let go a club, instead of the losing heart, his reasoning being that, if East held the high clubs as well as the heart K, which the original lead placed with him, it would be impossible for him to protect the two holdings.

Had South ruffed the heart Q, East would not have had to protect the heart suit and could have safely held the clubs.

My Neighbor Says:

Keep your electric light bulbs and lamp shades clean if you want to get the most light from them. A film of dust on a bulb will reduce the intensity of light. Dust or dirt on a shade will dim it.

A drop or two of almond with the required teaspoon of vanilla gives more character to the taste of rather flat-tasting puddings, cakes and desserts.

Tricks Make Short Girls Look Taller

By JULIET SHELBY

Central Press Writer on Beauty.

DOCTORS and statisticians say that American women have grown several inches taller in the last 50 years. Certainly the glamor girls of today are much taller than they were even 20 years ago There was a time when a tall girl stooped to try to appear smaller, and everyone thought that little women were the most attractive and feminine members of our sex.

Now that our ideas of beauty have changed, small girls are apt to get pretty tragic about being short. It really isn't as bad as you think, because if you have a nice figure you will always find plenty of men who like them petite. Even so it is clever to dress in a way that will lengthen your silhouette and make you appear taller. This is especially true if you happen to be both short and plump.

It is smart for you little girls to wear full-length coats and to avoid boleros, jackets or short coats that cut the up and down line. A long coat that flares from the shoulders in the back, such as a raglan, will make you look several inches taller.

Simple Sleeves Best.

Don't go in for exaggerated sleeves, simple sleeves and inconspicuous waistlines add height. You can wear very narrow skirts, but they should be rather long. You are also lucky in that you can wear flaring skirts very well, but don't wear a belt in a contrasting color if you are going in for the wide skirts, because the belt will cut you in two and make you look very tiny.

Small prints or solid colors are best for you Big splashes of contrasting colors, horizontal stripes, checks and large patterns will glaringly call attention to your size It is also awfully important for little girls to have good posture. If they stand straight, and walk and sit with grace, people will never notice that they are unusually short. This has been borne out time after time by the great actresses who have been small of stature. Of course this is entirely due to their poise and personality, because a woman with assurance and grace never seems to be either little or insignificant.

Another thing to remember is that you should be most careful in selecting a coiffure that will make your head look small. Bushy hair dos are absolutely out. They make your head look large, and this may sometimes make you seem slightly deformed, because your head will appear to be out of proportion to the rest of your body. You will have to use the same care also in your selection of hats. So small compact hats are your best bet.

In selecting stockings, be careful to get shades that will blend in with the skirt of your dress and not break the line.

You can successfully wear just about any color, as long as you don't cut yourself up with a lot of contrasts.

So don't be distressed if you are short. With these points in mind you can always look stately, and though you will never be a clothes model, you'll always have plenty of beaux.

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, July 23

THE ASTRAL influences bearing rule on the affairs of this day may not be read as propitious, as they indicate jealousy, strife, folly and other tokens of inharmony and distress affecting the business and personal lives. The menace is particularly disturbing in private relations, and may be aggravated if not instigated by rash, unkindly and unguarded writings or speech. Be cautious in all that might be considered folly.

If This Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may not enjoy a particularly harmonious and profitable year, as there are menaces of unhappiness and friction in social, domestic, affectional and even business associations. Jealousy, enmity, spite and aggravations from unwise speech and extravagance menace.

A child born on this day may be merry and good-natured, taking life not too seriously, but suffering from its pleasure loving and indulgence, as well as from its tendency to carelessness in speech and writings.

When decorating a birthday cake for an aged person, arrange candles to form her age, thus for 75 make a seven and a five with the candles. This saves space on the cake.

A teaspoon of ammonia in a quart of water will remove all grease and dirt from brushes and combs. Rinse, shake and dry in sun.

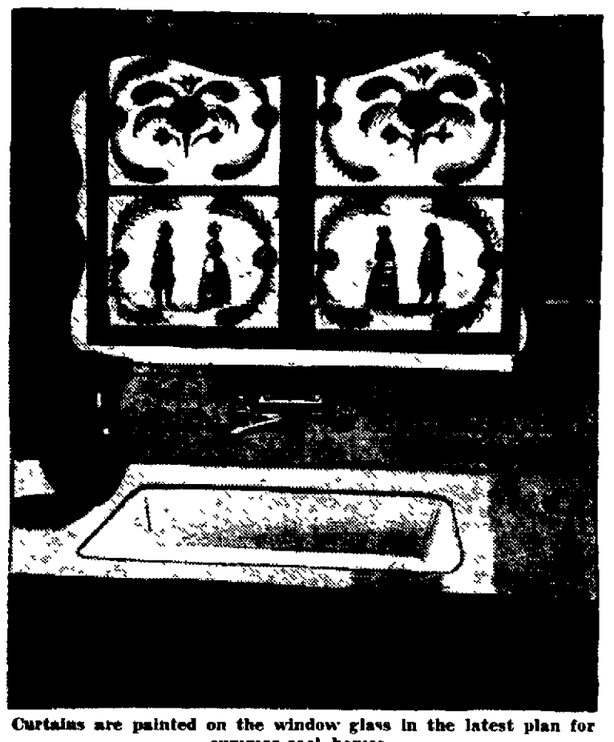
PAINTED CURTAINS LATEST FAD FOR WELL-DRESSED HOUSE



Curtains are painted on the window glass in the latest plan for summer-cool homes.

By MARY DAVIS GILLIES

Prepared by McCall's Magazine.

If curtains make the house seem warm in summer, why have them? If removing them leaves the windows looking bare, why not paint on curtains?

There are all kinds of new decorating ideas and materials ready to make this the coolest summer, regardless of the thermometer.

Curtains painted on the window glass can be in any color or design your fancy chooses. How about a painted drapery of cool green ivy or fern fronds?

There are all kinds of interesting possibilities in draperies of cellophane, which comes in many patterns and can be cut and pinned if you don't feel like sewing.

If the Venetian blinds look too bare without any draperies, a clever idea is to string them with loops of cotton rope in a bright color

Instead of the warm winter rugs, matting will be popular this year, but many will welcome the new cotton washable rugs Some are going so far as to paint a rug on the floor.

Slip-cover fabrics will go toward using three patterns in a combination of colors Among the smartest is a trio of a plain, a stripe and a floral pattern in soft hunter's green, dusty rose and cream Slipcover style favors the tailored, and unusual attention is given to trimmings.

The whole indoor ensemble will be designed for an outdoor air—potted trees, ivy and gay colors; and light woods, glass and metal.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

Whatever Katie's "detecatuff" ability may be, I have learned from experience to respect her intuitions, and when she greeted my tentative announcement that I would have to impose upon her good nature once more with the declaration that people were coming and we were "in for another big meexup" I was inclined to agree with her.

For my father is a stormy petrel whose long association with his country's secret diplomatic service often involves him in bizarre and sometimes highly-dangerous adventures. We had not seen nor heard of him since he departed upon the secret quest for the missing emeralds of the exiled Queen Olga of Transvania, but before his departure I had guessed that it was not alone the finding of jewels which was sending him far from his home

Expects Excitement.

Whether this message to me, bidding me prepare for four guests with a cordon of guards around the farmhouse, had anything to do with his quest, I did not know But I did know that I would have my work cut out to explain to my inquisitive little housekeeper the duties I wished her to perform without rousing her curiosity to the boiling point

So it was with distinct trepidation that I answered her question

"I do not think we are going to be involved in anything serious," I said "We simply are going to have four unexpected guests tonight. Two of them will sleep in Miss Mary's old room, and the other two—we'll decide after they get here," I finished lamely.

Katie clapped her hands in sudden delight

"Mees Mary's old room," she said "Dots de vun mit bars on vindows I see eet all now Dot cop he got sum prisoners ofer in jail dot are so high oop und so dangerous dot he don't dare keep them ofer in hees jail, so he bring dem here und you haf to lock dem in dot room, and den you'll haf to stand guard at door mit loaded revolvers. Oh! Gee! und me, I'm in eet!"

Katie Is Delighted

She fairly gurgled her delight, and she put a probing question

"Dees folks vot going in room mit bars, are dey mens or vimmens?"

"I don't know, Katie," I confessed

"Dot means dey vimmens," she said "I deedooce dot all right, eef dot cop he didn't tell you He know vimmens make so mooch more trouble in house dan mens und he didn't vant to deescourage you right off first"

"Perhaps you're right, Katie," I said, struggling with my risibles, again and Jim came nobly to my rescue

"You'd better be finding out what Mrs Graham wants you to do, instead of standing there gabbing about deductions," he said, and there was in his voice the note that I notice Katie always respects and heeds Generally Jim takes meekly all the gibing his fiery and volatile wife hands out to him, but when he does rarely assert himself, she has nothing whatever to say

Madge Gives Orders.

I was not surprised when she turned to me with a suddenly meek face

"You vant me to feex sometings?" she asked

"Yes," I answered briskly "I want you and Jim to put another single bed in Miss Mary's room There will be room if you take out the bookcase You can set it in the hall for now The room is always clean—I know how you take care of things Katie—but when you finish putting up the bed, and making both of them up you had better dust a bit Get these sheets and blankets"—I gave her directions for my best things —"and see that there are flowers on the dresser Hurry as fast as you can, and then come down to the kitchen. I will start some things for supper so you won't have everything to do when you come down"

Her lower lip dropped in a signal I understood.

"You no need to do dot," she said "I haf plenty of time to feex tings mitoudt your vorking your pretty hands to bone."

"Never mind my hands, Katie," I told her, restraining a laugh, for I read her perfectly, and I knew she wanted no interference in her kitchen, even from me. "I'm not really going to cook anything, I'm simply going to get things started Hurry along now with Jim like a good girl and get that room ready."

Orange Souffle Pie Coffee

If you are serving the fruit salad bowl to children, you may prefer the fruit salad dressing below.

Today's Recipes.

BANANA FR-UIT SALAD BOWL—Wash and dry carefully one or more varieties of fresh crisp greens and place in a salad bowl. Arrange long strips of banana attractively on the greens. Add a variety of other fruits such as orange and grapefruit sections, slices of avocado, thin slices of unpeeled apple, strips of fresh pineapple, whole berries or cherries. Serve with dressing.

FRUIT SALAD DRESSING—Three tablespoons fresh orange juice, one tablespoon lemon juice, one-fourth teaspoon paprika, few grains pepper, one-half cup vegetable oil or melted butter, one-half teaspoon salt, liquid honey. Combine all ingredients except honey and stir vigorously with a fork. Add honey to sweeten slightly and beat dressing.

ORANGE SOUFFLE PIE—One cup orange juice, grated rind and juice of one lemon, four tablespoons flour, one cup sugar, three eggs. Heat the orange and lemon juice and rind in a double boiler. Combine the flour with three-fourths cup of sugar, mix to a paste with a little of the juice before it is hot, stir in, and cook, stirring, until thickened and smooth, then let cook 10 minutes longer. Add the egg yolks, well beaten, and cook, stirring until thick. Beat the egg whites stiff, and beat in the remaining one-fourth cup of sugar. Fold the hot mixture into the whites, pour into a baked bran pastry shell and let cool. Top with whipped cream.

Add a few salted peanuts to the chocolate sauce you serve over ice cream or sherbets.
